East Goes West and V. V.
Annoying Holdup
Tornado Exaggeration
No Pineapples, Please

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1928, by Star Co.

YESTERDAY Mr. Hoover, from California, was telling the East why it should vote to retain and increase Republican prosperity.

Governor Smith from New York was on his way West to tell farmers why they should put out Republicans and put Democrats in.

Many speeches about prohibition, nullification, as Republicans call it, modification, as Democrats call it.

Much whispering and loud talking about religion.

But the real issue is PROSPERITY.

Once workmen talked about the full dinner pail. Now they talk about the full pocketbook.

The job of Democrats is to convince the public that the national pocketbook will expand, and national savings increase more rapidly under Democratic than under Republican rule. Nothing else really counts.

A lady bandit adds annoying features to the holdup industry.

Twelve gentlemen were playing poker in Brooklyn, a policeman among them. Violent sobbing at the door, a woman in distress. The poker players open, and hear "Stick 'em up"—two men pointing automatics stand behind the sobbing young lady. She points one automatic, pointed steadily, while her friends collect pocketbooks and jewelry, $5000 in cash.

Then to facilitate the "getaway" the young lady of the sobs and automatic told the twelve gamblers, "Drop your trousers to your knees." They obeyed hastily. Leaving them hobbled, any man can appreciate their predicament. Lady and holdup partners left in their automobile. That is new.

If you have made any winter plans about Florida don't let any news reports, accurate or exaggerated, influence you. There are no tornadoes in Florida in winter.

For information about "terrible tornado in Florida" comes in this dispatch from Peter D. Knight, one of the ablest lawyers in Florida:

"Tampa, Fla., Sept. 17.

"News dispatches sent out from Florida concerning so-called hurricane positively malicious and criminal. The velocity of wind in Tampa has not exceeded thirty miles per hour. No damage here whatever and damage to entire state negligible. Please give this publicity.

"Peter D. Knight."

A typhoon in China has killed many, and many houses destroyed. We pay little attention; it is too far away. In the Virgin Islands thousands are homeless. That is nearer home but leaves us cold. A majority of us don't know where the Virgin Islands are.

Hundreds of thousands are homeless in Porto Rico, crops are ruined, many in extreme misery and actually hungry.

Uncle Sam should prove that his friendship and protection are real and worth having. There should be no waiting for the Red Cross to make some little gesture. This is a rich country, with money, ships and provisions, and no time should be lost.

The sugar crop of Porto Rico is safe. That interests us, sugar might go up. Coffee growers suffer heavy losses. That interests us, it may mean dearer coffee.

Judge Jarecki, of Chicago, says that city will enlist men to guard the polls in November. He doesn't want any more "pineapple politics."

"Pineapple," you know, is Chicago's playful euphemism for an explosive bomb.

If pineapples only were used in the Chicago campaign it would not be so bad. But automatics, machine guns and brass knuckles added to the "pineapples" make the way of the voter hard, unless he votes with the gang.

The United States Constitution is 141 years old now, and that fact was appropriately celebrated yesterday on the steps of the United States sub-treasury in Wall Street. The Constitution has provided 141 years of prosperity, and Wall Street is prosperity's main office.

C. W. Hoyt, an able man, brilliant in his profession, is killed by a fall from his horse. The horse shied, causing a sudden fall, and Mr. Hoyt's neck was broken.

Many friends will sympathize with the family of Mr. Hoyt, whose death should be a warning to all men that ride, especially after fifty.

Had Mr. Hoyt worn a hat of extra hard felt especially made for riding, and providing an air cushion to protect head and neck in case of a fall, he would doubtless be alive now.

ALLEN GETS 204 VOTES, GOODWIN 96, AS FIRST 3 TOWNS FILE RETURNS

New Ashford, a small town in northwest Massachusetts, again scored a "beat" for primary returns today when it was

FIRST WINDMILL PLANE HOPS ACROSS CHANNEL

Cape Gris Nez., France, Sept. 18 (AP)—The first windmill plane to cross the English channel flew over here at 11:05 a. m. today piloted by its inventor, J. De la Cierva. The plane hopped off from Croydon, England, at 10:05 for Paris and carried one passenger.

Senor de la Cierva recently completed a tour of England with his plane during which it demonstrated successfully its ability to rise vertically without the necessity of moving through elaborate spirals as the ordinary plane does.

The plane is equipped with four blades on top of the cockpit and these are rotated by air pressur independently of any power unit. The blades are pivoted on heavy struts and rotate horizontally with a "windmill" effect. For ordinary movement the plane is equipped with a regular motor and propeller.

The plane continued on to Le Bourget Field, where it ended its trip.

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 18 (I.N.S.)—The death toll in the Florida hurricane mounted to approximately 100 today as reports were received from the storm-stricken communities. Some of the towns in the Everglades have not reported, and fears grew that the death list might go higher.

Miami, Fla., Sept. 18 (AP)—A death list of 139 persons from the area smitten by the tropical storm in southern Florida Sunday was reported today to the Miami News.

Having swept across Florida with a reported death list of over 100, the tropical hurricane today was lashing the coastline of Georgia and South Carolina and it was predicted it would strike the southeastern part of North Carolina later today.

In Brunswick, Ga., there was considerable damage. Shipping was tied up at Savannah.

The wreck, with its injuries and death, followed the windup of an all-night campaign for one of the nine candidates for congressional honors in the hotly-contested Twelfth District fight.

Daniel V. Barry, 30, of Willow st., Dorchester, the man killed, was found lying in the gutter by a passing motorist, attracted to the scene by the gushing hydrant.

HUGE DIRIGIBLE, COUNT ZEPPELIN, ON FIRST SUCCESSFUL TRIAL

TAKES UP FIFTY IN CABIN

Friedrichshafen, Germany, Sept. 18 (INS)—"The Count Zeppelin," Dr. Hugo Eckner's huge dirigible, with which he hopes to inaugurate a transatlantic passenger and mail service made its first flight this afternoon.

The great dirigible was taken from its hangar shortly before 3 o'clock in the presence of a large crowd.

The balloon started aloft at 3.30 while the spectators cheered.

The balloon will make several trial flights before it is sent to New York with passengers and mails.

The flight scheduled for the morning was postponed owing to contrary winds.

BIG CROWD CHEERS

Dr. Hugo Eckener, director of the Zeppelin works, later decided to make the trial at 3:30 p. m.

A large crowd gathered at the hangar and saw the huge balloon take the air.

Among the spectators was the Maharajah of Patiala, with a suit of 15 persons.

The great airship behaved perfectly, answering the slightest touch on the rudder. After rising over the flying field it headed out over Lake Constance towards Switzerland. The fuel tanks were filled with benzine and there were experts on board from the air ministry to test the feasibility of using blue gas.

TOOK UP 50 PEOPLE

There were 200 men in the gang that took the dirigible from its hangar. Within 10 minutes Dr. Hugo Eckener, director of the Zeppelin works, was at the wheel.

Dr. Eckener shouted in German: "Let us go."

"Immediately the motors began to roar and the silver gray air liner gently rose in the air and turned at right angles, heading out over the lake.

Dr. Eckener said that the flight would last between two and three hours. There were 50 persons in the cabin, including Comdr. Rosendahl, commander of the U. S. Navy dirigible Los Angeles, who came to Germany especially for these trials.

PAYS HIS TAX BILL TO STRANGER; LOSES $10.80

Boston police are looking for a suave, middle-aged man who posed as a city tax collector and got $10.80 from Felix Mancovitz of Dover st., South End.

Suspicious of the alleged collector's actions after he receipted his tax bill, Mancovitz went to City Hall and reported the incident. The swindler went to Mancovitz's home and asked to see the tax bill, pointing out that $10.80 was still due.

The man is about 40 years old, weighs 160 pounds and is 5 feet 10 inches tall. He wore a grey suit and hat. Tax bills are only paid at City Hall.

OBJECTS TO CALLING NO. STATION ARENA "HAZARD"

Objections to two words in the master's finding on the new North Station controversy drew Supreme Court attention again today. Atty. Frederick H. Nash, counsel for the B. & M. railroad, agreed to accept the report of the master, F. T. Field, if the words "speculative and hazardous" in reference to the arena as an addition to the station were eliminated. He said such a finding was not based on evidence. Field had ruled that the project would cost $2,500,000 for the station and $1,500,000 for the arena, with the latter "speculative and hazardous." Judge Crosby reserved decision.

8 ARE INJURED WHEN TRAIN RAMS TROLLEY

Worcester, Sept. 18—The courage and quick action of Harry Lane, a motorman, prevented loss of life when a Boston & Maine passenger train from Rochester, N. H., struck a crowded trolley car at Barber's crossing here today. Eight persons were injured in the crash.

Lane had driven his car on the railroad tracks when he saw the train speeding toward him not 100 feet away. Realizing he could not hope to beat it across, he jammed on the brakes and started to back up.

The locomotive struck the front end of the trolley, demolishing the vestibule and injuring Lane and seven passengers.

James L. Kelly of Dorchester ave., driver of the auto, told police he rented the car from a Roxbury agency and picked up his companions at Upham's Corner. They were returning from City Point, he said, when the lights of an approaching car confused him. He escaped injuries, but police charged him with manslaughter and driving so as to endanger lives.

Another man, whom Kelly said was Benjamin Coogan, address unknown, left the scene of the accident apparently unhurt.

Womack 'Hopes' Ruth Sues Him; Quits His Plan to Join Byrd

Balboa, Panama Canal Zone, Sept. 18 (INS)—Lyle Womack, who recently filed suit for divorce against Ruth Elder, sailed for New York today as a fireman on an ocean liner.

He had to abandon his divorce action as he was unable to obtain power of attorney for his father to conduct the proceedings in his absence from the Canal Zone. Upon being informed that his wife might now turn the tables and sue him for divorce instead, he exclaimed: "I hope she does."

Apparently Womack has given up his idea joining the Byrd Antarctic expedition.

PARKER ISSUES PLATE WARNING

A reminder to the operating public that the transfer of plates from an old car, sold or traded in, to a newly-purchased car is forbidden under the law until the new automobile has been duly registered and insurance obtained, was issued today by Registrar of Motor Vehicles George A. Parker.

"I have recently suspended the license of a dealer and the license of one of his customers, because the customer, misinformed by the dealer, operated a car with plates attached that had been assigned to another machine," the registrar said.

MISTAKE IN "DADS" LED TO MIXUP OVER BABIES

Detroit, Sept. 18 (AP)—A mistake in the identity of parents and not of babies caused a nurse in the Evangelical Deaconess hospital to give the infant son of William C. Greatrex to Alfonso lemminck, Belgian immigrant, in the belief that she was turning the infant over to its father, the nurse testified today in circuit court here.

The nurse is Mrs. Purcel ernier and she testified for the defense in the trial of a $200,000 damage suit brought by Greatrex against the hospital for the loss of his baby five years ago. The child was never found. Iemminck declares he gave the baby a short time later to a party of motorists from Pennsylvania.

MAN SLAIN IN LEXINGTON FIELD

State Detectives Edward J. Sherlock and Edward P. O'Neil were called into the case, and they summoned Joseph L. Ferrari, another of their force who is familiar with movements in the Italian colonies.

They questioned those living nearest to the scene. None heard sounds of shots, they reported. They believe the shots were fired from arms equipped with silencers.

A search of fields and lowlands nearby was started for the weapons.

That revenge, and not robbery, was the motive was determined by police when $92 and a wallet of personal papers were found untouched in the clothing. The clothing was of fine texture.

An envelope bearing the name of Luigi Gugliara, Boston, was the only clue found.

The body was taken to McCarthy's undertaking parlors, Bedford st., Lexington, for further examination.

An envelope, the type used to send money to Italy, was found, bearing the name of Luigi Gugliara. It was issued by the First Bankers' Union, Hanover st.

In another pocket a pawn ticket on the Hanover Loan Office was found, showing a loan of $2 on a hunting case watch to a Luigi Boston or Poston of Bowdoin st., West End.

Another letter, written in Italian, was taken by Dr. Piper.

A ring of burned paper matches at the scene indicated that either a death conference was held prior to the killing or that the last wounds were made by the flicker of the matches as the body lay prone.

Revolvers of two calibres were used, one of the .38 soft-nose type and the other a .25 calibre automatic.

A number of other bruises were described as kicks from heavy boots.

Rostand Raises Storm by Attack on Victoria

Paris, Sept. 18 (AP)—Maurice Rostand's new play "Napoleon IV" has raised such a storm of international criticism that the author has begun to modify lines blaming England and Queen Victoria for the death of the only son of Napoleon III.

French papers were so bitterly critical of the play that English authorities are reported to be satisfied that protests from them are not needed.

Rostand's version that the Prince was killed in a Zulu ambush when British officers purposely ran away because of a plot which is blamed on Queen Victoria herself is rdiculed by critics. They consider it an insult to England.

Rostand, however, maintains that a dramatist has a right to utilize history, even legendary accounts as they were known at the time of the play's action.

No diplomatic action is foreseen, particularly as Rostand is changing several lines and is considering censoring a passage referring to ueen Victoria as responsible for having plotted the death of the Prince in order to wipe out the last of Napoleon's line.

One alteration was the change of a phrase referring to the death plot from "that is the English manner," to "that is the common way."

SLATER MILLS GET $500,000

Worcester, Sept. 18 (AP)—Judge Wilford D. Gray of Superior Court, who sat for several weeks early in the spring to hear an equity case brought by S. Slater & Sons, Inc., of Webster, versus Jacob F. Brown and the Wuskanut Mills in Farnumsville, handed down a decision today in which he finds the plaintiff is entitled to recover more than half a million dollars.

The suit involved the alleged conversion of the Wuskanut Mills from the Slater interests at a price claimed to be lower than a fair market value at the time the negotiations were completed.

In summarizing the findings, Judge Gray states: "A decree is to be entered in the equity case, ordering both defendants (Mr. Brown and Wuskanut Mills) to pay the plaintiff the following amounts: $450,996.77, $8695.58 and $9767.08 with interest, and, in addition, ordering the defendant, Brown, to pay to the plaintiff the further sums of $4796.40 and $90,895.92, with interest."

DE RIVERA IS REPORTED SHOT

Sept. 18—A tense situation prevails at Madrid as a result of the agitations of revolutionary plotters, according to information received here this afternoon.

The cabinet is described as "nervous." Troops throughout Spain are confined to their barracks. It was reported that Premier de Rivera was shot.

Preparations have been made for an outbreak.

Sensational reports were received, but all were denied.

The government has imposed a fine of 1,500,000 pesetas upon Francio Cambon, one of the leaders of the Catalonian republicans, who was said to have been involved in the recent revolutionary plot. Cambon is believed to be in Italy.

To Tax Greek Bachelors

Athens, Sept. 18—Greek bachelors are to be taxed to stimulate marriage and increase revenue.

ROMA IS POISED FOR ITS TRIP ACROSS SEA

Old Orchard Beach, Sept. 18—Fully serviced with 1200 gallons of fuel and 42 gallons of oil, the blue and white sesquiplane Roma perched at the head of this beach today ready to start on her 4600-mile flight to Rome late this afternoon.

Start of the flight was postponed from this morning because of a cross wind which would have endangered the takeoff with a heavy fuel load, and the four gallant members of the big Bellanca's crew.

Pilot Roger Q. Williams, who will be at the controls when the Roma speeds down the sands, made a short flight with Capt. Harry Jones, Old Orchard pilot, in order to test the wind. He pronounced conditions too dangerous for the start, but both he and Jones predicted a favorable shift of wind before dark.

WITHOUT REPAIRS

"If the wind shifts we are going, without repairs to the propeller," said Comdr. Cesare Sabelli, young Italian director of the flight.

A large crowd that gathered during the morning in expectation that the plane would hop remained during the day when word was passed that a start was expected between 4 o'clock and 6 o'clock this afternoon. The tide will then be low and the hard packed sands of the beach will allow a two-mile run even if a cross-wind takeoff is attempted.

MOTOR TUNED

In the meantime, the single motor upon which will depend the lives of four men during the longest ocean flight ever attempted was being thoroughly tuned by Frank T. Stashak, mechanical expert of the Pratt-Whitney Co.

Stashak was stilll of the opinion a new propeller should be hung on the Roma's shaft, but the flight crew would brook no further delay.

Dr. Leon M. Pisculli and Bonelli, navigator and radio operator, agreed with Sabelli and Williams that the eighth of an inch play in the propeller would not menace the safety of the flight.

GOLD COAST TROOPER VICTIM OF ACCIDENT

Quite the most freakish accident recorded on the Somerville police "blotter" this year occurred in the "Gold Coast" district today with Trooper James Green, on rum blockade duty, the victim.

Green was standing in a doorway in South st. when a passing truck struck a rise in the road and got out of control of the driver, Alexander Taylor of Russell st., Arlington, striking Green's motorcycle and tossing it against the building where Green was standing. REQUIEM FOR 'RED' MURPHY, 'DEMON KID AUTOIST'

Racer Roars Requiem ◆ For Medford's Speeder

"RED" MURPHY

Peggy Ann

MRS. "RED" MURPHY

"Red" Murphy, West Medford hero racer, has taken his last ride, claimed by the sport he loved so well, but neither his babe, Peggy Ann, nor his wife will forget the courage that carried him to his death in a racing crash.

"RED," DEMON DRIVER, TAKES LAST RIDE

By MYLES T. McSWEENEY.

"Red" Murphy left West Medford a year ago with the roar of his engine echoing in the ears of the village. Just a wild kid.

"Red" Murphy returned home to the "village," to the tragic minor of a Requiem.

"Red" Murphy is dead and buried. And the village stands in mourning.

There is a young wife who loved him and a prattling baby left to mourn the passing of "the kid who drove like a demon" and who rushed to a premature death on a New York race track the other day.

And as he was borne away to the graveyard, slowly and silently, friends stood by, with tear drenched eyes, to pay a last tribute to the "kid" they knew and loved.

A TRUE CHARACTER

"Red" was a character. A symbol of daring youth. A bit wild, people said, but a real boy.

When "Red" was 14 years old, he used to startle his schoolmates by his reckless driving. Not that he wished to show off. But speed was in "Red's" blood. He loved excitement. The speed limit in Medford was 20 miles an hour. "Red" used to start at this rate.

SAYS 95 P. C. OF DESERTIONS BY HUSBANDS

St. Louis, Sept. 17 (AP)—One of the major social problems in the United States, steadily growing more important, is desertion and non-support, Patrick J. Shelly, chief probation officer of the City Magistrate's Courts of New York City, declared in an address at the national conference of Catholic Charities today.

"So many husbands are running away from their wives and so many wives are running away from their husbands that in many cases it has been necessary for social and religious groups to found national bureaus to take care of such cases," he said.

Statistics, Mr. Shelly said, sowed that in from 89 to 95 per cent of the cases the husband was the one that struck out for freedom. He said one out of every four children in orphans' asylums is a victim of desertion.

Dr. Leo H. Bartemeier, psychiatrist o fDetroit, declared that most cases of nervous children were directly traceable to nervous parents. "Cure the parent, if you would cure the child," he said.

FALL ON COOKING PAN CAUSES WOMAN'S DEATH

Elizabeth Rosborough, 48, found dead in the attic of her home, East Dedham st., South End, met her death by strangulation while in a drunken stupor, police decided today, as they released the divorcee's father.

The woman was found by John Rosborough, who said he was her father. Police held him as a material witness. Medical Examiner Leary said the woman fell from a couch on to a cooking pan, where her throat rested on the edge.

CANDIDATE VOTES, BUT—

John J. Cummings, Dorchester. candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, didn't know just where he voted today. Cummings first went from his Adams st. home to the Gibson school, near Field's Corner. There he was told the Ward 16, Precinct 5, polling place was in the Hemenway school. So he went to the school—and found it almost across the street from his house. Photo shows him at polling place.

BANK CLOSED IN WOONSOCKET BY SHORTAGE

Woonsocket, R. I., Sept. 18 (AP)—The Citizens' National Bank of this city today closed its doors and an announcement by the board of directors said that an examination of the bank's accounts showed a "substantial shortage." The amount was not disclosed.

Notices posted on the door of the bank said the action had been taken by the board of directors but gave no further information until the later announcement by the directors of the discovery of the shortage.

The bank, which has a capitalization of $100,000 with extensive savings deposits, had recently been reorganized, at which time the cashier and assistant cashier resigned. Since then federal examiners have been working on the books.

A report of the results of the examination has been forwarded to the comptroller of the currency in Washington.

NEWTON BOY, BITTEN BY DOG, DIES OF RABIES

Pompeio Leone, 13, of Chapel st., Newton, who died at the Newton Hospital, was the victim of rabies and not of infantile paralysis, Medical Examiner George L. West informed the Newton board of health today. The boy was taken to the hospital on Saturday night.

Police say that early in August the boy was bitten by a dog on the farm of Antonio Falcone in Warren st., Watertown. He received numerous bites about the face and arms but did not take the Pasteur treatment.

ENGAGEMENT OF MISS ELIZABETH LYMAN OF BEACON ST. ANNOUNCED—BETTY ALDEN

Gordon Harrower of Providence, Harvard '14, to Be Happy Bridegroom.

MR. AND MRS. RONALD THEODOPE LYMAN of 39 Beacon street announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Van Cortlandt Lyman, to Gordon Harrower of Providence. Miss Lyman attended Miss Winsor's school in Boston and St. Timothy's School in Catonsville, Maryland. Before coming out she spent a season in Paris at Mlle. Moos and Miss Schoff's School, where she also received a diploma from the Sorbonne. She made her debut at two dances given by her parents in their home on Beacon Hill in the season of 1925-6. She is a member of the Vincent Club and has also taken leading parts in plays given by the Cercle Francais of Harvard.

Mr. Harrower is the son of Dr. and Mrs. David Harrower of 98 William street, Worcester. He is a brother of Norman Harrower of Fitchburg and of Francis D. Harrower. Mr. Harrower graduated from Harvard in 1914. He served through the war as a lieutenant in the 101st Field Artillery, 26th Division. He is a member of the Spee Club of Harvard, Harvard Clubs of Boston and New York, Hope Club of Providence, Jacobs Hill Hunt Club and Agawam Club. The wedding is expected to take place in early November.

TO SOME THE WIDE ATLANTIC OCEAN appears no larger than a fair sized lake, and huge, ocean-going aristocrats are merely ferryboats. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Corby Fox, Jr., are in this category, judging from the frequency and nonchalance with which they ply back and forth across the briny. Not so very long ago these two charming young people were wed, and for the lune de miel they went to Europe, just as young people of their way and station of life are wont to do. Wedding bells and bon voyage sounded only so recently as mid-June, and away they went to be gone indefinitely while Mr. Fox put on some finishing touches for his chosen work, diplomacy.

PLANS WERE INTERRUPTED TEMPORARILY, and back they came to this side, only to make a second departure for Europe, in a week or so. The budding diplomat, whose great desire in the world is to rise smoothly to the heights, finds life and study abroad, and the special glamorous polish acquired thereby quite indispensable to his success. Such polish Mr. Fox can easily assimilate. And considering his gifts of mind and person, and that he has a delightful young wife to aid and abet him, success should early knock on his door. Mrs. Fox was Miss Emily Wentworth, gracious and pretty, of aristocratic forebears, exactly the type to shine in royal courts and imperial palaces.

SPEAKING OF POLISH, THE SCHOOLGIRL hegira is well under way. Being "finished" in Paris or Florence is very much a part of subdebutante tutelage; just as much so as learning to enter a ballroom and regular visits to the dentist. The steamship France, turning her prow eastward and out of New York in a day or two, takes two future Boston debutantes to a winter of study abroad. Miss Mary Lovering and Miss Ruth Lovering are buds-to-be about to acquire some further polish against the day when they make their social curtsies. The France also takes abroad Owen Wister, the writer, and Carl Wister, Philadelphians according to Social Register listings, but world citizens in actuality.

WEDS THIS WEEK

Mrs. Vinton Dahlgren Pierce becomes Mrs. Robert Herrick, Jr., on Friday, at a very quiet Washington ceremonial. Mr. Herrick will take his bride to Europe.

Flather-Newell Wedding at Brookline Tomorrow

WHEN THE PARIS DOCKS as she is due to do shortly in New York, well known and important people will come down her gangplank, Mrs. Winston Churchill among them. The wife of the novelist is one of the interesting birds of passage whose flights from coast to coast invest steamship lists with notable names and furnish a bit of envious chatter for the stay at home work-a-day person whose vision of far countries is still confined to imagination and travel folders ever so brightly colored. During a recent Boston winter the Churchills had an apartment in the Hotel Somerset, a secondary home to the lovely place up on the Connecticut river at Windsor.

ANOTHER TOWN HOUSE takes on a semblance of life, linen shrouds come down and shutters open. Mr. and Mrs. William B. Cowen of West Hill Place are soon back in town after a foreign summer. They also come home via the Paris and in the family group are William Cowen, Jr., and Miss Katherine Cowen. John L. Saltonstall's return from the other side is one of the very recent ones. I believe he arrived only a day or two ago, bringing two young Saltonstalls with him. The small son and daughter have been doing the British Isles all summer with their pater and just sailed home from Scotland.

WHETHER A GIFTED young songstress sings under her marriage or her maiden name matters not at all when the singer in question is Mrs. Francis Minot Weld, who was Miss Elizabeth Burgess. Society acclaimed her last season when she was still Miss Burgess. And is quite ready to do so again when she appears at the Hotel Copley-Plaza early in November, whether maiden or matron. When Francis Weld succumbed to the multiple charms of Miss Burgess there was a serious depletion in the ranks of Boston's exclusive "Bachelors." Mr. Weld henceforth is not one of the small circle of eligible young men who make up that very smart set that annually includes new names to succeed those who have been found vulnerable to the small god's darts.

SO FAR AS BENEFITS ARE concerned this is an "early" winter. Choice dates were long ago snapped up and already artists with the requisite box office pull are at a premium. Miss Burgess is star attraction for South Boston Neighborhood House and the Boston Sinfonietta aids and abets the good cause. Even earlier than Miss Burgess on the benefit program comes that rollicking sea rover, Count Felix von Luckner, to speak at Symphony Hall in October for one of the local hospitals. The Count is not a stranger to Boston—his recent appearance here with his golden-haired wife pleasantly incited to entertainment and a 5 o'clock clatter, as is the way when romantic figures come to town.

TOMORROW'S BRIDE IS Miss Betty Newell, daughter of Mrs. John Louis Newell, who helps keep the wedding bells resounding through September's third week. She and John Rogers Flather plight their troths in the First Parish Church of Brookline and receive their friends' felicitations at the Country Club. A wedding every other day or so keeps romantic interest at keenest pitch through early September and incidentally necessitates inordinately long motor journeys to town by those still lingering at country home or sea coast estate. But brides are ever a law unto themselves, so motor it is, whether the way be short or long.

HINDENBURG PROTESTS SILESIA ANNEXATION

Berlin, Sept. 18 (INS)—President von Hindenburg, in a speech at Oppeln, Upper Silesia, made the strongest protest of his presidential career against the detachment of German soil for annexation by Poland, said a dispatch from Oppeln today. He was quoted as saying:

"For us Germans it will always be unexplainable why, despite a plebiscite, a large part of Upper Silesia was given to Poland."

POLICEMAN ON VACATION NABS ROBBERY SUSPECT

Through the alertness of Patrolman Patrick J. Long of Reading, Edward Kelly, wanted in that town for the robbery of a chain store last July, is under arrest in Calais, Me., with Reading police on their way to bring him back. Officer Long, spending a vacation in Calais, saw Kelly on the street, recognized him from photographs and caused his arrest. Sergt. Slack and Officer William O'Brien left Reading for Calais.

MANY WALK TO WORK AS TRUCK HITS EVERETT CAR

Early commuters were late for work this morning when a truck sideswiped an inbound-Everett Station trolley, shattering the windows of the car, near 195 Broadway, Everett.

None of the passengers were hurt, but many were forced to walk to the station and traffic was tied up for some time. The truck was operated by H. Butler of Washburn st., Dorchester.

To "Red" 20 miles an hour was "just moping along." Eighty miles was about right.

It was only a few days ago that "Red" kissed his wife good-by. He took his little baby in his arms and talked to her in that language that only babes and fathers understand. He went out.

"I'm just going over to the fair," he said. And to his little Peggy Ann he gave a last hug.

"Red" arrived at the track. It was at a county fair. One of the race drivers failed to appear. The manager grumbled and looked about him.

"What's the matter?" inquired "Red."

"Oh, I'm short a driver," answered the manager.

"Well, I'm here," said "Red." "Let me drive."

A few minutes later he took the wheel of a racing car. He chatted and smiled to those about him.

Then the bark of a pistol, and "Red" was off in a cloud of dust.

His car leaped into the lead. He tore around the dirt track at a speed that made spectators gasp.

"There goes that kid. He's driving like a demon. Look at him hit the turn."

"Oh, God, look! He's lost control. There! Through the fence!"

They picked up the mangled form of "Red" Murphy. They picked up too, the broken heart of his young bride.

Everyone misses "Red."

The butcher on the corner wiped away a tear.

That's the first time I've seen "Red" go slow," he said, as the auto hearse purred slowly by the square on its way to the cemetery.

"Red" Murphy, 21 years old. With money to make life easy. Knowing no fear. The symbol of daring youth. No wonder West Medford mourns.

We shall miss the roar of his motor, and the smile, and the flaming red hair.

Good-by, "Red."

BIRD & SON INVOLVED IN $100,000 SUIT

Damages of $100,000 were asked today in a suit filed in Federal court by Wilbert F. Barrett of Haverhill against Bird & Son, Inc., of East Walpole. The Chemical Paper Mfg. Co., of Holyoke and Robert Gair Co. of Haverhill.

Barrett is head of the Priestly Paper Co. and Barrett Paper Stock Co. of Haverhill.

In his suit, brought through the Sherman anti-trust act, he charges the three concerns with conspiracy in restraint of trade in that "they conspired to combine to fix prices."

FRIEDA DAVIS
Former Boston newspaper writer is dead in Asheville, N. C.

HEAVY VOTE IN BROOKLINE

In Precinct 7, Brookline, the largest in the town, with a registration of 2601, officials at the polling place, Gardner Hall, Washington sq., reported the largest first hour vote in the history of the town. With the polls opening at 7:15, 101 ballots had been cast an hour later, at which time a long line was formed outside the polling place.

Both Gen. John H. Sherburne and William S. Youngman, candidates for the Republican nomination for lieutenant-governor, live in Brookline, which accounted to a considerable extent for the large vote.

Gen. Sherburne cast his vote in Precinct 5, the old Boylston school, a Republican precinct where the majority of the voters do not turn out until after 9 o'clock. In the first hour 33 votes were cast in this precinct, as compared to 77 and 72 respectively for Precincts 3 and 6, with about 2000 registered voters in each.

Precincts 1 and 2, taking in the Longwood section, precinct 8, Fisher Hill, and precinct 9, Chestnut Hill, all reported heavy votes.

A contest that aroused considerable interest in Brookline, Brighton and Allston was that for the state senatorial nomination of former City Councillor Fred Dowling against the present incumbent Erland Fish and Bertha Cook.

FRIEDA DAVIS, WRITER, DEAD IN ASHEVILLE

Boston newspaper friends months ago bade adieu to Frieda Davis as she went South to regain her health.

But today Boston newspaper folk mourn her passing, for Frieda died yesterday in Asheville, N. C.

Frieda of the sparkling moving picture reviews, the captivating "Cinderella" column and the amusing Sunday "specials." The boys all knew Frieda. They were familiar with the brilliance of the blonde-haired writer.

For many years she served the Boston Evening American as its cinematic editor.

Her column was one of the most widely read personalities of a newspaper and she continued to develop a following of interested readers until 1922 at which time she devoted her efforts to free-lance activities, supplying Boston and New York papers with charmnig features and specials.

Her "Cinderella" column was a feature of the Boston Daily Advertiser and her articles an important part of the Boston Sunday Advertiser. She had lived with her mother, Mrs. L. G. Louis H. Davis, in Rockport, where both enjoyed distinctive connections with the artists' colony.

In 1926 Miss Davis took ill and spent some months at a Sharon sanatorium, later going to Winter Haven, Fla., and then to the mountains of North Carolina, where she died.

Her father, a Boston broker, died many years ago while Frieda was still a young girl. She was educated in the finest of the schools in the East, a French governess moulding the delicacies and finesses of her childhood.

She was one of the finest newspaper women in Boston and one of its cleverest. Her book reviews for the Christian Science Monitor were also a cherished contribution by the editors.

Her body is on its way back to Boston, the city with which she was most familiar and the one in which she found the greatest cheer and comfort.

HOOVER HAS 298 IN ELECTORAL COLLEGE, STRAW VOTE SHOWS

G. O. P. GAIN IN CONN. IS PREDICTED

By CHARLES N. WHEELER

Noted Political Analyst

Chicago, Sept. 18—Herbert Hoover went over the winning goal in the Electoral College today, in the college equivalents of the Hearst Nation-wide straw vote, with the added allotment of the uncanvassed states.

The vote stands:

Hoover, 298.

Smith, 233.

Necessary to choice, 266.

Comparison of the Electoral College indications of one week ago with today's figures appended:

	Sept. 18	Sept. 11
Hoover	278	262
Smith	214	219
Uncanvassed	39	50

In the list of uncanvassed states today are Arkansas, Kansas, Louisiana and North and South Dakota. Smith is conceded Arkansas with 9 electoral votes and Louisiana with 10, a total of 19, bringing his grand total today to 233.

Hoover is arbitrarily conceded Kansas with 10 votes and the Dakotas with 10 votes, a total of 20 votes, making his grand total 298.

HOOVER GAINS 12

In the canvassed states Hoover has a gain for the week of 12 votes in North Carolina and 8 in West Virginia, while Smith takes the 4 Idaho votes and the 3 Nevada votes.

In today's tabulations New York, Massachusetts, New Jersey and Connecticut are listed in the Smith column. These states, from every viewpoint, probably should be listed as doubtful, inasmuch as the margin, with the exception of Massachusetts and New Jersey, is very close.

Connecticut, however, is showing new strength for Hoover, and if the present ratio of gain is maintained for the next couple of weeks this state, the present survey seems to show, will be switched from the Smith to the Hoover column. Hoover also is gaining in New Jersey.

Idaho is placed in the Smith column in the accompanying table because the straw vote thus far taken entitles the governor to this classification. It is pointed out, meantime, that the vote has been confined almost entirely to three or four of the cities, while the little combing that has been done in the rural districts indicates Hoover will likely overcome the present lead if the ratio of country supremacy is not checked.

The Idaho straw vote, nevertheless, as of this morning, is: Smith 464, Hoover 424.

HOOVER SAYS IDAHO SAFE

Senator William E. Borah, who is to take the stump shortly for the Republican ticket, and is scheduled to play a stellar role in the great "campaign of education," is authority for the statement that Idaho is as safe for Hoover as is Kansas, regardless of what the temporary trend of the larger cities indicates.

In this connection, Hoover shows surprising strength in the strictly rural districts of Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa and South Dakota. The first canvasses in spots that are wholly agricultural in all four states put him way out in front, in some places 4 to 1.

One farming community in Nebraska gives Hoover 156 to 64 for Smith. A similar locality in Kansas rolls up 235 for Hoover to 56 for Smith. Iowa, the first straws show, is going to remain moored to the G. O. P. wharf with almost the traditional party strength.

While there is a slight slump in spots the general survey today indicates that they will be inconsequential in the statewide totals. One representative spot out where the tall corn grows gives Hoover 584 to 241 for Smith.

The first farming community in South Dakota to be canvassed shows 140 for Hoover to 83 for Smith.

By next Tuesday morning it is hoped to have a fairly representative vote from all four of these States.

OUT TO BEAT WHEELER

While the scouts report a healthy Smith sentiment in Minnesota, as duly chronicled in a previous review, a late report from the twin cities just received is to the effect that Sen. Henrik Shipstead, who is seeking re-election on the Farmer-Labor ticket, is in trouble, with the present indication that he may be beaten.

Senator Burton K. Wheeler also is reported encountering tough going in Montana, despite the fact that he was the late Senator La Follette's running mate four years ago. Former Governor and former U. S. Senator Joseph Dixon, who managed the Bull Moose campaign for Theodore Roosevelt in 1912, is opposing Wheeler this trip.

While Wheeler's strength is not underestimated, Dixon has given his "honest to God" opinion to Dr. Work, chairman of the Republican national committee, that he is going to whip Wheeler "good and plenty."

QUELL RIOT IN MARYLAND JAIL

Baltimore, Sept. 18 (INS)—Every available detective and policeman in the central district, called to aid the authorities of the Maryland State Penitentiary in quelling a riot in which 1000 convicts participated, today had restored order.

There were no casualties, but windows were smashed and furniture wrecked in a wild demonstration against Warden Patrick Brady and his subordinates.

The police were forced to disperse a crowd of thousands that thronged streets near the penitentiary.

The riot is thought to have resulted from a mass meeting at the Hippodrome Theater Sunday, at which time several ex-convicts excoriated the present prison administration, charging that brutal measures of restraint were employed.

FEAR 17 LOST AS SHIP SANK

Owen Sound, Ont., Sept. 18 (AP)—Five men, believed to be the only survivors among the 23 members of the crew and passengers on the sattle boat Monasoo, which foundered in Georgian bay early Saturday morning, were recovering from exposure here today.

The five were taken from a life raft by the Canadian Pacific steamer Manitoba and brought to this port. They had been adrift for 60 hours. All are expected to recover.

The other 16 members of the crew and one passenger are believed to have perished.

Chief Engineer Thomas McCutcheon of the Monasoo died aboard the raft shortly before the rescue. His body was stripped of its clothing and tossed into the bay to lighten the raft, awash at the time, because of its heavy burden and leaking pontoons. His clothing was given to Arthur Middleboro, the purser, who had escaped clad only in his underwear.

The survivors told Capt. F. J. Mavis of the Manitoba that the Monasoo sank almost without warning, giving no opportunity to launch lifeboats or to warn the members of the crew who were below decks.

PALM BEACHES, CUT OFF FROM WORLD, HARDEST HIT BY STORM

MIAMI SENDS ASSISTANCE TO STRICKEN SISTER CITIES

as well as the devastated areas of Florida were isolated because wires were out of commission.

The early day summing up of 37 deaths in Florida was increased to 40 when Jacksonville received word that three were known to be dead in Clewiston, where 35 other persons are reported missing. The known death toll at West Palm Beach is 14 and in the Lake Okeechobee region it is 23.

The 40 in Florida added to the known dead in Porto Rico and other islands of the West Indies make a total of 609. But it is feared the grand total when known will be nearer 1500.

The numbers of injured are incalculable at present. More than 140 are in temporary hospitals at West Palm Beach.

Sheriff R. C. Baker was advised that looting had developed in one of the suburbs of West Palm Beach.

Two National Guard units have been ordered to Okeechobee City; West Palm Beach is under military rule to facilitate relief.

Relief trains and trucks are moving northward into West Palm Beach from Miami, and southward from Daytona Beach with water, doctors, nurses and supplies.

Two army transports were on their way to San Juan, Porto Rico, with food and a naval vessel is being loaded in New York with an additional supply for the island.

Six disaster relief workers are moving in from Washington toward West Palm Beach, with a director en route to take charge of the entire Florida situation.

Miami already has appropriated several thousand dollars for relief, with local Red Cross units in operation in several coast towns supplemented by police and other city authorities.

Georgia Towns Isolated; Shipping Held in Harbor

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 18 (AP)—The local weather bureau announced today that the tropical hurricane apparently was moving northeastward along the Atlantic coast between Savannah, Ga., and Charleston, S. C., and that 11 inches of rain had fallen in Savannah in the last 24 hours.

The barometer, which had been falling steadily at Savannah since last night, was reported at 28.92, a drop of 10 points in two hours, and a 48-mile-an-hour wind was blowing. The coast from Savannah north to Charleston was cut off from communication today and the last word from Charleston, shortly after 3 a. m., was that a 59-mile wind was blowing there.

In addition to Charleston, Beaufort, Georgetown and Parris Island, the United States marine training station, also were cut off, and the local weather bureau stated that because of wire conditions it was impossible to forecast the direction of the storm other than generally northward.

ALL WIRES DOWN.

The Weather Bureau indicated its belief that the storm had diminished in intensity. All wire communications with Savannah, Brunswick and other coast cities of Georgia was lost and the only wire working to Jacksonville was reported by the Postal Telegraph Company.

A long distance telephone message from Savannah just before wire communication was interrupted said extra coaches were placed on the train to Tybee island to bring out the residents of that summer resort.

At this season of the year there are normally 200 residents there. Some were believed to have left there last night for Savannah after the weather bureau forecast the coming of the storm.

Word came from the Brunswick News that a 55-mile wind had carried away electric light wires and left the place in darkness. At the time the barometer was reported at 29.20 and still falling.

A report from the Savannah News said the city had felt the force of a 40 to 50-mile gale which uprooted trees and broke some plate glass windows. The rainfall up to 8 o'clock last night was recorded at 2.52 inches. The barometer at 9:30 p. m. was 29.50, a drop of 13 points in an hour and a half.

All shipping remained inside the harbor. Heavy seas were running.

The Atlanta weather bureau said that the storm apparently had diminished greatly in intensity throughout last night and headed toward Hatteras with the possibility of a change in course, according to the high pressure obstacles it might meet.

Tracing the progress of the disturbance, which originated in the Caribbean last Thursday, the bureau said it held to a fairly straight course through the West Indies, and, as usual, began losing force and meeting high pressude on entering the mainland south of West Palm Beach, Fla., where 14 were killed.

On reaching south central Florida, where 24 were known to have been killed near Lake Okeechobee, the disturbance was turned back, walled in by high pressure areas of air until it pushed its way northeastward toward Savannah. The high pressure areas weakened its momentum and the greatest of these pushed the storm back toward the Atlantic as it progressed northward.

The northwesterly wind which blew lightly in a clouded sky over Atlanta today was indicative of this conclusion, the bureau pointed out.

Finding of Bodies Near Clewiston Adds to Total

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 18 (AP)—A wireless message received today from Station 4BN at Tampa, addressed to the Associated Press, said that three bodies had been recovered from the Miami Canal, at Lake Harbor, near Clewiston, and that 35 others were missing. The message was signed "Vance." The message said the news came from Bardsley and added:

"Refugees at Lake Harbor being cared for at hotels and in houseboats owned by road contractor. Water has risen 10 feet at Ritter. Entire section east of Clewiston under water. Three houses and pump plant at Bear beach and hotel at Lake Harbor only buildings not in water in 10-mile lake front."

R. S. Vance is the Associated Press operator at Tampa.

This brings the known death toll in Florida up to 40.

Howard W. Selby, chairman of the Red Cross chapter in West Palm Beach, estimated the damage to that area at $20,000,000, of which he said $10,000,000 was for the Palm Beaches.

While relief measures got fully underway at Palm Beach expeditions were entering the Lake Okeechobee region where varying accounts of loss of life and property damage have been given by persons who came out seeking aid for those behind. Twenty-three were known to be dead in the Lake Okeechobee region, and while the relief committee at West Palm Beach counted 14 dead the police at Del Ray reported three lives were lost there. Five of committee were at Pahokee and were accountd for in a large measure when Lake Okeechobee overflowed its dikes and flooded the countryside.

Hundreds of homeless families were being cared for at refugee homes in West Palm Beach, Palm Beach, Lake Worth, Boynton and Del Ray. Hotels, apartment houses, schools, churches and courthouses were thrown open for this purpose.

Two relief trains, one from Miami, which escaped serious harm, and the other from Daytona Beach, were moving into the stricken area.

The Miami train carried extensive supplies and the private car of Senator Joe T. Robinson, Democratic vice-presidential nominee, who halted his campaign tour to lend his car to relief agencies. Twenty doctors and nurses were aboard the Miami train, while the train of 15 cars from the North carried 15 relief workers, including several doctors, as well as many supplies.

Meanwhile, word came from Washington that a relief worker was en route to take charge of six other national disaster workers who had left there Sunday.

Minister Run-down in Health, Gains 7 Lbs. in 3 Weeks

Rev. W. H. Taylor writes, "After a weeks' revival campaign I was entirely run-down and losing flesh rapidly. I decided to give Ironized Yeast a 3 weeks' trial. After 2 weeks I found my strength returning and the tired feeling gone. In 3 weeks I had gained 7 lbs. and was myself again."

Imagine just 3 weeks to change from a "skinny," tired person to a strong, well-filled-out man or woman. Ugly hollows vanish. Broomstick limbs become round and chubby. Tired feeling disappears. Blemished skin clears.

Only when Yeast is Ironized is it more effective—for iron is needed to bring out the weight-building and strengthening values of Yeast. Pleasant-tasting tablets. Safe for everybody. Never cause gas or bloating, no harmful drugs.

Go to any druggist today and get a full size treatment of Ironized Yeast. If after this generous trial you are not delighted, your money back instantly. If inconvenient to buy from druggist, send $1.00 to Ironized Yeast Co., Atlanta, Ga. Desk 337-BX.

Baby Blown From Its Father's Arms, Killed

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 18 (AP)—The West Palm Beach relief committee announced early today it had verified 14 deaths in the Florida East Coast hurricane area.

The identified dead:

Mrs. Julia White, 76, Del Ray, killed by a falling fire place and chimney.

Infant Nelms, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nelms of Kelsey City, killed when he was blown from his father's arms by the wind.

John Anderson Blaylock, 46, native of Cumberland County, Tenn. killed at Westgate when struck by a part of a roof.

Will Jones, negro, Del Ray, killed when his house collapsed on him.

Ella Jones, wife of Will Jones.

—— Brooks, eight-year-old negro boy, drowned in a ditch south of Deerfield.

Gale Is Sweeping Toward Hub; Due Here Tomorrow

A nor'easter with gale velocity is due to sweep down the New England coast by tomorrow, the weather man predicted today, as storm warnings were posted from Boston to the Virginia capes.

The wave in the Ohio valley that dropped temperatures into the 50's is expected to sweep eastward to meet the northeast storm that is brewing, he said.

Forecast for Boston and vicinity: Cloudy and slightly cooler tonight; rain Wednesday, increasing with northeast winds that will reach gale force.

SPEED HELP TO 700,000 PORTO RICAN VICTIMS

San Juan, Porto Rico, Sept. 17 (AP)—In the face of a steadily mounting death toll, Porto Rico labored today to care for 700,000 persons left homeless by the tropical hurricane until help could come from the outside. Half of these homeless were estimated to be hungry.

Despite the insistence of citizens that martial law affords the quickest and most effectual means for alleviating distress and inaugurating proper sanitary measures, Governor Horace M. Towner today advised Washington that he did not believe the situation called for so drastic a measure.

Within the last 24 hours the toll of known dead jumped from 258 to 300 when reports came through from three towns, which had been isolated. These were Comerio with 29 dead, Coamo, 9 dead, and Barranquitas, 9. Doctors and those familiar with conditions estimated that the total deaths would be more than 1000.

$100,000,000 LOSS.

Further check of the storm ravages showed that the estimated peperty damage of $100,000,000 was not exaggerated.

The pressing need today, according to complaining citizens, is for distribution of supplies already available. The army transport St. Mihiel, diverted to this port by President Coolidge because it carried food stores, arrived this morning. The more urgent immediate needs of the community, therefore, were believed to be provided for.

The destroyer Gilmer, bringing Henry M. Baker, national relief disaster director of the Red Cross, and five assistants, is due here later today.

WIDE PATH OF RUIN

Poor county folk were endeavoring to patch together their damaged homes, using stones for hammers and bent nails drawn from the wreckage. Men, women and childen worked together.

Noah Sheppard, an agent of the Federal Land Bank, who traveled across the island from Ponce, said he saw no one crying or quitting.

Sheppard estimated that 30 per cent of the homes in the rural districts which he crossed had been damaged. Beans, corn and sweet potatoes for planting for quick crops also were needed, he said.

Citizens of Porto Rico organized a committee, headed by Chief Justice Emeli del Toro, to draft whatever aid was thought essential.

RELIEF IS SPEEDED UP

Local relief funds were placed at the disposal of the citizens' committee. An outline of relief methods was drawn up so that as soon as supplies and food arrived from the outside they might be distributed without delay.

Other cities and towns reported they have relief measures for their immediate vicinities well under way.

The story of a telephone operator's heroism was reported from Coamo, where nine persons perished. Felicita Cartegena stuck at her switchboard giving warnings and aid until she was killed.

A small infant at Humacao was torn by the wind from its mother's arms and hurled 200 feet to death. In the same city a merchant was reported to have been blown through a window into a river and drowned.

Dresses Stolen From Car

Benjamin Margolis of Hancock st., Quincy, a salesman, reported to the police that 23 silk dresses, 5 pleated skirts and a woman's coat, trimmed with maren fur, were stolen from his automobile while it was parked on Washington st., near Hayward place, today.

W. PALM BEACH DEAD 14; LOSS $10,000,000

West Palm Beach, Fla., Sept. 18 (AP)—Striking with terrific force, the West Indian hurricane has spread death, injury and property damage that is expected to mount into high figures over the Palm Beach section of the Florida east coast.

While only 14 persons so far are known to have been killed and 140 injured, the property damage is unestimated.

The city of West Palm Beach is virtually a wreck. Hardly a building escaped injury. The business district looks like it had been shelled by enemy guns. Residential sections of the city are but little better off.

Palm Beach proper also was hit hard. Many buildings were completely down and a part of Royal Palm ave. was under water.

The surrounding country suffered to a similar extent. Beginning at Stuart, on the north, to Pompano, 35 miles to the south, the hurricane left nothing but wreckage and destruction in its path.

OTHER TOWNS HARD HIT

Deerfield and Boynton were devastated. Lake Worth was severely hit. Delray, Lantana, Kelsey City and Jupiter, all small towns, also felt the fury of the elements.

Thousands are homeless and are being cared for in railroad stations, in box cars and in such structures as withstood the storm.

"I have lived in Florida since 1901 and this is the worst I have ever seen," said Sheriff R. C. Baker of Palm Beach County, after an inspection trip. The sheriff said in his opinion a conservative estimate of property damage in West Palm Beach alone would be $10,000,000.

"The business section is virtually a wreck," he declared. "There isn't a building in the city that escaped damage. It's as bad if not worse than what hit Miami."

Mr. Baker attributed the small loss of life to people being prepared for the storm.

"Those who did not seek strong shelter were ready to run for it at the first sign of danger," he said. "There was but little, if any, moving around during the lull between the first storm and the back lash."

LOOTING BREAKS OUT

There was no water, lights or gas in the city. The sheriff was advised yesterday that looting had developed in one of the suburbs of West Palm Beach.

He also was told by officials of Lake Worth, an adjoining town, that troop protection was needed. Lake Worth officials described conditions as "deplorable."

Florida national guardsmen were assisting West Palm Beach city officials to police the business district.

A large supply of drinking water was brought on a relief train from Miami. The private car of Senator Joe T. Robinson, Democratic Vice-Presidential nominee, was attached to this train.

After a hasty inspection of the city, Mr. Robinson dispatched an appeal for assistance to the American Red Cross. The storm area appears to extend from Fort Lauderdale to Titusville and is approximately 145 miles in width, the message read.

Loss of 300 Lives in French West Indies

Paris, Sept. 18 (AP)—The fury of the tropical hurricane which swept the West Indies on Thursday is estimated by the Governor of Guadeloupe, French West Indies, to have taken a toll of 300 lives there. In a report to the Minister of Colonies he said 235 bodies had already been recovered.

It was feared that when the full toll became known, however, it would mount beyond this. The Governor, when he sent his estimate, had just arrived at Pointe a Pitre, the chief town of Guadeloupe. He reported that 60 were dead in Pointe a Pitre, which contains nearly one-fifth of the total population of 230,000 of the island and that the town had been devastated and the suburbs completely wiped out.

Many villages also have not yet been reached by courier and all other communications have been silent. It was believed that these villages suffered greatly from the hurricane with the rest of the island.

The island dependencies were also hard hit. In the Island of Marie Galante which has a population of 20,000, almost all houses gone.

Great Britain's possessions in the West Indies also were hit by the gale, the Leeward Islands reporting a death toll of 44.

RAISING FUNDS HERE FOR GALE SUFFERERS

Contributions totaling $3155 were announced today by the Boston Chapter American Red Cross, less than half a dozen hours after Boston's quota for the hurricane relief fund had been set at $75,000.

Included in the contributors were Governor Fuller, Lieutenant-Governor Allen, A. C. Ratshesky, Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel F. Ayer and Augustine Hemenway, $500 each; Alice P. Tapley and Sarah F. Bremer, $100 each; Dr. E. Stanley Abbott, Mrs. W. Addison Burnham, Mrs. A. L. Hopkins and Mrs. Charles P. Greenough, $50 each; "E. L. H.," "M. E. B.," Charles H. Stearns, "A Friend," and James D. Colt, $25 each; W. E. Castle, Agnes E. Andrews, H. S. Luscomb, Mary R. Joslin, Rebecca R. Joslin, May L. Pierce, Mrs. Brunton Kellogg, Lane H. Spencer and Paul B. Tubby, $10 each.

The $75,000 figure was set today in a telegram to A. C. Ratshesky, chairman of the metropolitan chapter here, from John Barton Payne, head of the central committee of the organization at Washington. Contributions should be sent to the Boston headquarters at 45 Newbury st.

TERRORS OF BIG STORM TOLD BY EYEWITNESS

Jacksonville, Fla., Sept. 18 (AP)—Mr. and Mrs. John W. Muskoff, Jr., were back in Jacksonville today after watching the storm that bore down on West Palm Beach wrecking buildings and homes and wounding their occupants.

The storm struck West Palm Beach Sunday afternoon and the Muskoffs reached Jacksonville after a drive over miles of debris-littered highways.

"The town," said Mr. Muskoff, a young Jacksonville attorney, "was one mass of debris. The streets were so littered as to make them almost impassable.

"We were driving up from Miami and reached West Palm Beach shortly after noon. A brisk wind was blowing. Suddenly a roof of a building went sailing through the sky. I looked around for the most secure hotel I could find and drove there. When we got out of the car we could not walk against the wind.

ROOFS SWEPT AWAY

"As we entered the hotel there were many others already there. The crowd stood about, looking out doors. By this time a drenching rain had set in. There could be heard crashes and rumblings. The tiles on our hotel roof clanked off to the pavement at irregular intervals.

"The first storm struck about 4:30 in the afternoon. It must have lasted a couple of hours; then there was a lull of an hour or so and it came again. The second storm seemed to be the worse of the two. The first wind was from the north and the second from the south.

"I would estimate that nearly 20 per cent of the houses in West Palm Beach were wrecked or damaged. Many buildings were wrecked, but the bigger and more substantial buildings stood.

MANY ARE INJURED.

"A string of furniture stores on North Poinsettia street was hard hit. The man where I put my car said it was the only storage garage of any size to withstand the storm. And the walls of this building—the service garage—were only partly there.

"So vicious was the wind it snapped off coconut palms — you know how tough they are supposed to be. The high wind shipped the rain into places it would not have gone ordinarily, and this must have added to the discomfort as well as to the damage.

"I saw a number of people with cuts and bruises and one or two with broken limbs. I don't know whether there were any deaths."

Watch Tongue For Signs of Illness

Your tongue is nothing more than the upper end of your stomach and intestines. It is the first thing your doctor looks at. It tells at a glance the condition of your digestive system—and physicians say that 90 per cent of all sicknesses start with stomach and bowel trouble.

Look at your TONGUE every morning!

A white or yellowish coating on your tongue is a danger signal of those digestive disorders. It tells you why the least exertion tires you out; why you have pains in the bowels, gas, sour stomach, dizzy spells.

And it's a sign you need Tanlac. This good old reliable medicine has helped thousands who were physical wrecks. See how the first bottle helps you.

Tanlac contains no mineral drugs; it is made of barks, herbs and roots—nature's own medicines for the sick. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

Hearst Ship to Aid Hurricane Victims

New York, Sept. 18—A relief ship for storm-stricken Porto Rico has been chartered by the New York American.

Following the receipt of dispatches from the island province, devastated by the fury of a tropical hurricane, reporting 1000 dead, 300,000 facing starvation and probably 1,000,000 homeless, the American prepared to rush immediate relief.

Word of the relief ship was broadcast and the next 24 to 48 hours will be spent in loading the ship with food, clothing, medical supplies and shelter so necessary to save thousands of lives.

The ship was anchored at pier four in the East river and appeal is being made to people in New York and the immediate vicinity to assist in outfitting the vessel.

A corps of workers have been assigned the task of getting the cargo aboard and every effort was being made to sail within the next 24 hours if possible.

The American today stressed the need of haste and stated:

"All of the funds raised through contributions to the New York American will be administered at the island by the Red Cross.

"Never before has a disaster of such colossal proportions visited an island dependency of the United States. Remember that Porto Rico's fertile fields give us sugar, tobacco, coffee, pineapples, many other fruits, cotton and other useful products.

"This island is populated by 2,000,000 persons and is governed under the American flag. Half of them are homeless. Many of them are starving. Therefore our duty to hasten with the utmost speed. It is America's job to do this errand of mercy with the utmost dispatch. The city of New York, the largest and richest city in America, should take the lead.

American Red Cross headquarters at Washington, D. C., welcomed with great acclaim the action of the Hearst newspapers in chartering a relief ship for stricken, storm-swept Porto Rico.

Chairman John Barton Payne of the national organization expressed his hearty approval of the project.

In sending supplies to the grief-stricken island, the Hearst papers are repeating their work of 1926, when they dispatched a special train laden with nurses, doctors and medical supplies to storm-swept Miami.

Praising the latest relief expedition, Chairman Payne stated:

"I am greatly pleased to learn that the Hearst newspapers are taking such an unusually active interest in the relief work in devastated Porto Rico in answer to the island's pitiful appeal to the American Red Cross and the people of the United States for aid.

"With 1000 reported dead, thousands homeless, and destruction amounting to millions on their hands, the survivors of the terrible storm that held Porto Rico in terror for 29 hours are in danger of famine and pestilence unless succor is sent them at once.

"Grateful indeed am I, and the American Red Cross for this splendid co-operation on the part of the Hearst newspapers. It is indeed a praiseworthy move and deserving of all the assistance it requires."

LYNN MAN ARRIVES FROM PORTO RICO STORM ZONE

David Dunbar, assistant treasurer of the Lynn Safe Deposit & Trust Co., Miss Stella Rice of Wollaston and two Porto Rican students bound for Holy Cross college, Worcester, were among passengers on the steamship San Lorenzo that docked at New York today from the storm zone.

Dunbar was on a cruise and was held up a day. L. Sanchez Morales and Victor M. Gutierrez, the students, said a number of other students were prevented from reaching the vessel by impassable roads. Morales said an uprooted palm tree saved his home by pinning it down.

BAND PLAYS FOR SMITH AS HE ENTERS OMAHA

Omaha, Sept. 18—Bearing an appeal to the farm voters of the Middle West, Governor Smith arrived in Omaha today and found little wanting in the way of a reception. Tonight he will deliver a speech on far mrelief, the first formal address in his presidential campaign since the notification August 22 at Albany.

A round of activity before the time set for the address onight in the City Auditorium had been mapped out for the Democratic presidential nominee and his wife and daughter, Mrs. John A. Warner, including a visit to the Omaha stockyards and stock exchange, a luncheon and a reception for Mrs .Smith.

After an overnight ride from Chicago, the long Democratic special pulled into Omaha at 9:15 a. m. A large crowd had gathered at the Union Station to welcome the Governor, and it refused to wait for his train to stop before it bellowed forh a noisy welcome.

GREETED BY BAND

A recepion committee, made up of local leaders, and Arthur Mullen, Democratic National committeeman, edged through the crowd insile the train gates to approach the Governor and escort him to his automobile. A band struck up "The Sidewalks of New York," and after posing for photographs, the party got under way for the Fontenelle Hotel, which will be the Governor's headquarters while here.

Advance indications are that the New York Governor is going to make a bold bid for the farm vote in his Western inaugural tonight. He will go a long way to meet the demands of the farm organizations that for two years have backed the equalization fee principle in the handling of crop surpluses. Just how far he will go remains to be disclosed, but it will be considerably in advance of the Republican position as so far outlined.

George N. Peek, chairman of the corn belt committee of 22, joined the Smith train at Chicago last night for the Nebraska trip and had a long conference with the Governor. Peek recently came out for Smith and is doing all he can to further his candidacy in the grain belt. Ex-Senator Gilbert Hitchcock of Nebraska, long a farm belt champion, also is aboard.

WON'T SELL BROWN DERBY.

The New York Governor already is "Al" to the country. Not once since leaving Albany has the Democratic nominee heard himself addressed by the crowds other than "Al."

"We're with you Al" and "You tell 'em, Al," and "Hooray for Al," have floated up to him on the back platform of his train at every stop. Never is it "Governor." Always it is "Al."

CROWDS CHEER HOOVER ON NEW JERSEY DRIVE

Newark, Sept. 18 (AP)—Herbert Hoover today had his second taste of campaigning in the East.

With a schedule that called for stops in many towns in territory that has been claimed by his Democratic opponent, the Republican nominee, after a whirlwind tour through the suburbs of Newark and a speech in this city spent the night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Edison, in Llewellyn Park, West Orange.

Hoover's schedule today called for his appearance in a dozen or more suburban communities between Hackensack and the state capitol at Trenton, where he was scheduled to board the special train for the return to Washington.

The candidate was billed for a 15-minute stop in Jersey City.

Senators and Assemblymen, with leaders from all parts of the State, were listed among those who had accepted Senator Edge's invitations for the luncheon in this city. In calling the gathering before it was known that the candidate would be here on the same day, Senator Edge had announced that he hoped by the meeting to keep aflame the enthusiasm for Mr. Hoover "which was kindled at the convention at Kansas City at which he was nominated."

Kearney, Belleville, Nutley and Passaic were on the morning itinerary. East Paterson, Hackensack, Leonia, Fort Lee and Union City were to be visited in the afternoon.

In Passaic, the headquarters of Albert Weisbord, Communist nominee for United States Senator, where a few years ago a great strike of textile workers paralyzed the mills for months, Col. Robert Johnson announced that all workers would be out.

The Republican nominee's first day of Eastern campaigning came to a close in this city last night. After a half day through cheering suburbs—Montclair, Bloomfield, Verona, Caldwell—the candidate rode at the head of a great procession to the armory of the 110th Regiment, where he addressed a wildly cheering throng.

SMOOT SAYS HOOVER WILL BEAT COOLIDGE MAJORITY

Salt Lake City, Sept. 18 (AP)—Senator Reed Smoot of Utah predicted that Herbert Hoover would be elected President with a larger majority than that given President Coolidge four years ago, and that five and possibly six states of the "solid south" would support the Republican nominee.

In a speech here the Senator said he believed Tennessee, North Carolina, West Virginia, Oklahoma, Kentucky and possibly Florida would go for Hoover.

Will Any Man Love Girl With a Past?

CHAPTER 2

JOAN sat in her bedroom window, trying to study. The dog-eared geometry was propped up before her, but the big French window overlooking the garden was before her, too. And the garden was full of fragrance.

The printed page blurred. It's so hard to put your mind on geometry when you've just lost your best friend. Hilda Sedgwick was mad at her—mad clear through.

"Why can't you walk up to the Point with me?" Hilda demanded hotly as they were coming from school.

"Aunt Evvie—"

"Oh, I know, you can't ever do anything that's any fun, but good night, Johnnie, don't you have to get botany specimens the same as I do at school, and won't she have to let you do that?"

"Yes, but—"

"Well, why can't we do it together?"

"I—I have mine already. I got them early—before school this morning—"

"Johnnie Hastings! And you never said a word to me! You passed right square by my house, too!"

"It was awfully early."

"Oh, all right—if you don't want to go with me it's all right. You seem to have changed all of a sudden, though."

"Hilda—I haven't. I do want to go—only—"

"Only what?" Hilda's dark eyes were snapping. Her broad shoulders in their white wooly sweater were thrown back, haughtily.

They were an odd pair; thick-set Hilda in her smart sport clothes, and tall, slender Joan in her shiny blue serge, made out of an old coat of Aunt Babe's, but they loved each other. They always had, in spite of Aunt Evvie's expressed objections, and Mrs. Sedgwick's amusement of the poverty-stricken, and fiercely snobbish Van Fleets.

And now their lifelong friendship was breaking.

"Only Aunt Evvie wants me home right after school."

"I'm getting sick of excuses, Joan. You're always running away from us. Anne says you are, and Dorothy, too. Gee, I never would have believed it of you." Hilda winked back a big tear, and blew her nose angrily.

"Hilda—can't you see—it's because Aunt Evvie—"

"Of course, if you care more for her than you do about me, all right, Johnnie Hastings, I'm through. I've always stuck up for you, against the whole crowd, but—"

And then, somehow or other, Hilda was running down the dusty road to catch up with Dorothy Nailor, and they had disappeared, arm in arm round the bend. Joan was alone. All alone now. Because of Aunt Evvie. Because she went to visit a dancing class one single, solitary afternoon, and Aunt Evvie had found out. . . .

Joan's mouth set in a hard, tight line. She'd study hard, and graduate in winter instead of June. Get through six months earlier. Then she could earn her own living, and get away from Aunt Evvie and Aunt Babe, and the hateful house.

Aunt Babe was almost worse than Evvie now. Ever since Evvie told that story about Joan's father who was once Babe's sweetheart, Aunt Babe had been awful! She wouldn't speak to Joan at all. Just sat and rocked, and sniffled all the time. It was terrible to watch her, all huddled up in her big pink shawl, with her eyes all red, and her everlasting handkerchief dabbing at her little pinched blue nose.

Mrs. Heeley crept around with her head tied up in a piece of red flannel, on account of her neuralgia, always looking at Joan as if she expected her to go off at any minute, like a lighted firecracker; always muttering about "foolishness" and "boy-struck girls."

And then every night, Aunt Evvie with her arms akimbo would say, "I hate to have to question you this way, Joan, but you understand why it is necessary. I have my promise to your grandmother to keep. You're still under age—and if you defy me, there are those you can't. Have you cut off your friendship with the Sedgwicks, and that Nailor girl?"

Joan sighed, and went at the geometry again with a stubby pencil. "Oh, darn school. Darn living. Darn everything. When you have no friends, and no one in the whole world to love, it's no use——"

She slammed the book shut, and leaned out the window. It was such a gorgeous, springy day! To have to be cooped up in the house all alone, when everyone else is out having a good time! Hilda and Dorothy would be way up by the Power House on the hill now. They'd be getting wild flowers, Indian paint brushes and poppies. Talking about her, too, maybe. They didn't understand. She couldn't tell people all about Aunt Babe and Aunt Evvie and how queer they were. You have to stick up for your family a little, even if they are funny.

"I wish my mother had dropped me off the ferryboat, too. I don't blame her for getting drowned instead of coming home to this place when she found out father was dead. I guess she'd have taken me with her if she had known what it would be like for me. But she didn't know, poor little thing—"

Joan's large, gray-green eyes, with the thick, tawny lashes that were like Veronica's, grew tender, as they always did when she thought of her. Poor little dead mother! And her heart melted again, with love for Veronica.

It was down there in the rose garden under the window that Veronica and Peter had met. Joan could see them, just as they must have looked. Veronica in a white ruffled organdie, all billowing skirts and blue sash, with a floppy hat shading her fly-a-way hair, Peter, tall, dark-eyed Peter by her side. How they must have loved each other! Oh, what a wonderful thing it would be to have some-

COOK IN FAMILY STRIEF

The domestic differences in the Robbins home in Eastern ave., Arlington, were enlarged publicly today to take in a domestic.

For four years, according to Mrs. May B. Robbins' testimony in East Cambridge court, her husband, Nathan, has not spoken to her.

And then came a maid into the home, hired by Mrs. Robbins. The maid was Julia Bunyan and she lasted only a short time when Mrs. Robbins discharged her.

But the maid refused to go. Mrs. Robbins had her arrested.

Then Nathan Robbins went to the police station, bailed out Julia and re-hired her, this time in capacity of a cook for his own personal appetite.

On a charge of trespass, the domestice was arraigned before Judge Robert Wolcott today and won her acquittal when the story had been told.

Mrs. Robbins revealed in her testimony that she has a separate support suit pending.

KIDNAPED BOY IS STOLEN

Chicago, Sept. 18 (AP)—Billy Ranieri has been rekidnaped, and today was hidden in a rendezvous so secret that even allies of his original abductors were unable to discover it.

Police, although baffled in attempts to find the new hiding place, said they had names of six or more men implicated in the kidnaping episode.

New threats against the boy's life were contained in a new letter sent the boy's father today.

Not until yesterday did police receive voluntary information from A. Frank Ranieri, father of the 10-year-old hostage. He told how he had paid $5000 in ransom money to Angelo Petitti, a saloon keeper, held with two others on kidnaping charges.

From a relative of Petiti police said they learned that Juliano Romano and Pasquale La Rocco were in charge of the boy. Fear of punishment had caused orders to be issued that the lad be freed, they said, but members of the kidnaping clique were unable to notifyRomano and La Rocco.

By piecing stories together, police gathered that Romano and La Rocco had taken the boy to a new spot unknown to their accomplices.

GOVERNOR INFORMED BY POWERS REPORT

Four rapid transit motormen in addition to Bernard McDonald, operator of the train concerned in the recent fatal wreck in Beach st., have been discharged from the Boston Elevated service.

This fact was revealed today in the formal report made by Samuel Powers, chairman of the El trustees, to Governor Fuller regarding the new agreement with the union.

The status of other motormen is still being considered, said the report.

The new agreement takes away from discharged employes the right of appeal to a board of arbitration and causes the trustees to pass upon all appeals from discharge as well as to the qualifications of new men seeking employment as rapid transit motormen. All such operators must submit to a physical examination at least once a year under the agreement.

Powers termed the agreement one of "far reaching effect" and bound to have a salutary influence upon men and discipline.

The chairman took occasion to point out to the Governor that the trustees had not been lax in discharging the disciplinary measures at their command, 476 employes having been "fired" since 1919 for disciplinary reasons alone.

Governor Fuller, who asked, "What must an employe do to merit dismissal?" after reading McDonald's record, appeared satisfied with the report.

Ex-Bank Teller to Be Lashed in Quebec Jail

Quebec, Sept. 18—Eight days hence Robert Chandonnet, ex-bank teller, is to be lashed five times in prison with a cat o' nine tails. Eight days before his release 10 years hence he will get five more lashes.

The sentence was imposed for an attempt to rob with violence.

LILY LANGTRY SERIOUSLY ILL

London, Sept. 18 (AP)—The Evening News says that Lily Langtry, famous actress of many years ago, is seriously ill at a London hotel.

The newspaper says that "the Jersey Lily," whose married name is Lady De Bathe, had improved today after several days of a severe indisposition.

The noted actress, who was born in 1852, has been living in retirement for some years.

NEW COMPANY IN BIG HIT AT ST. JAMES

By NICHOLAS YOUNG

THE Keith-Albee Players, those restless, artistic folk who have taken possession of the St. James on upper Huntington ave., stepped off last night to the accompaniment of considerable ceremony quite outside the rigid duty of acting individual roles. Measured by the stiffest of standards it was a safe and gorgeous getaway.

A NEW company of toiling actors crossed the stage; that is, it was new to the faithful disciples who have given so freely of praise and acclamation to the arts of the spoken drama as you discover it in the Back Bay. Not only were there no regrets as the evening wore on but there were unmistakable signs of exultation. "A Free Soul" was the season's opening temptation.

It was stern drama, here and there lighted with brisk comedy and a good deal of general discussion concerning the freedom of the individual as contrasted with the demands of conventional society. It embraced society buds, gentlemen who shake trembling dice and others who take the written law none too seriously. Incidentally you were treated to a brand new courtroom scene. It's becoming a habit.

WHOLE CAST SCORES

The qualities of the performance must have been astonishing to the doubting stock patron who has attended first performances in other days. Instead of halt and hesitation there was finesse; there was no reaching for lines, no temporary lapses so familiar to the old guard. A splendid interpretation gave Willard Mack's play of a gambler and his affairs as straight a deal as any picked Broadway cast might have done. Exploring for flaws, omissions and artistic depressions proved a fruitless task.

Except for the ceremonies attending the end of the first act, with spirited felicitations passing glibly between audience and actor, there was little in the performance to distinguish it from something fresh from Broadway, peopled with selected personages. As a part of the rites, autumnal blooms crossed the footlights. Responding speeches kept the members of the cast out of their roles for a half hour. And it barely interrupted the show. Really, it seemed part of it.

In acting honors, Marion Grant and George R. Taylor had much the best of the performance, while John Warner, who one of these days will be the leading man of the company, trailed into third position. Mr. Taylor's was a noteworthy contribution; a fine lesson in sane, intelligent and convincing acting. It is not clear now why the choice of an opening play should fall to one designed for the company's character man. At any rate, Mr. Taylor moved into Boston in stirring style.

WELL-BALANCED COMPANY

Others in the cast whose labors told their own sweet story, were Edith Shayne, Thomas H. McKnight (the cursed villain) Jon Reddoe, John Junior and Marie Plancha. Memories of the past were supplied by Mark Kent, who has made this port on many occasions.

And so the Keith-Albee Players are afloat upon another season, this time, perhaps, with the best balanced stock company the old town has known in a decade.

MARION DAVIES SCORES AGAIN

Marion Davies, outstanding screen comedienne, plays one of her most successful roles in "The Cardboard Lover," feature photoplay at Loew's Orpheum, this week.

She is seen as Sally Baxter, an American tourist, who arrives in Monte Carlo, where she meets a handsome tennis champion. She poses as his "cardboard lover" to aid his escape from the clutches of a scheming vampire. A fast comedy pace is sustained throughout the film by the clever performances of the star, Nils Asther, Jetta Goudal and others.

Harry Hines is the vaudeville headliner. The popular musical comedy favorite scores a hit with a collection of songs and bits. Billy Farrell and company present a comedy skit with some clever dances included.

The Perezcaro Sisters' Mexican revue, composed of 12 native Mexican entertainers, is an elaborately staged singing, dancing and musical novelty.

Other acts include Allen and Norman in a "hokum" offering; June and Jo in a musical turn, and Miss Zeigler and partner doing equilibristic stunts.

Latest Hal Roach comedy, featuring Charley Chase, and M-G-M newsreel complete the program.

KELLY, BOYD AT KEITH-ALBEE

An exceptionally strong bill of entertainment is presented at the Keith-Albee. Walter Kelly, famous for his "Virginia Judge" comic character monologue, heads the vaudeville acts, and William Boyd in a thriller of the underworld called "The Cop" is the featured screen attraction. Boyd is surrounded by a clever cast including Jacqueline Logan, Tom Kennedy, Alan Hale and Robert Armstrong. Donald Crisp is responsible for the direction.

William Boyd

The action of the film swirls in a veritable vortex of crime. The hero (Boyd) joins the police force and has his troubles.

Assigned to a beat that includes a notorious "fence," the new cop begins his duties with a first class tilt.

But, in the inevitable manner of crime plays, one of the "gang" is an exceedingly interesting girl.

How to do his duty and, at the same time, win the girl, is a job that only a movie hero can accomplish.

Nevertheless the action is exciting, the players popular and the whole makes highly acceptable screen fare.

Other smart vaudeville acts and special features complete the bill.

Week's Features

BOWDOIN SQUARE—Ramon Novarro in "Forbidden Hours"; Karl Dane and George K. Arthur in "Detectives," and vaudeville.

WALDRON'S CASINO—(Burlesque) "Hello Everybody" revue. Also pictures and vaudeville.

HOWARD—(Burlesque). Ruby Foreman in "Frivolities" revue. A personal appearance of James J. Jeffries, vaudeville and pictures.

BOWERY TROUPE AT THE GAYETY

"The Bowery Burlesquers," a troupe which for years has been one of the hits of the burlesque wheel, is proving at the Gayety that it still holds its grip.

The show is loaded with fun, flavored with peppy scenes, and backed up with action and color from the time the curtain goes up until the last ensemble.

Premier honors are shared between the two leading comedians, Billy Foster and bulky Marty Semon. Foster's tongue-tripping dialect and his helplessness when trying to express a big thought are convulsing to the audience, while Semon's placidity and general geniality make an equally pronounced hit.

There are two big scenes, a fishing number and a scene in a crowded street car. The daintily clad chorus plays an important part in both spectacles, appearing as mermaids in the fishing scene and as part of the crowd in the street car.

There is plenty of chance for humor in both scenes and Foster and Semon make the most of it. Violet Hilson sings her way into popularity, while Sonny Delmar leads the chorus through a series of evolutions.

LAYS STOCK ACTIVITY TO GAMBLING MANIA

The present stock market is a "state of mind" and the results will be the same as the Florida boom, Leroy D. Peavey, president of the Babson statistical organization, told delegates at the 15th annual national business conference at Babson Park, Wellesley, today.

"Various well-known stocks which were boosted in the last 18 months have now dropped out of the public eye," he said. "Their expected large earnings did not materialize. Who is holding these stocks? The psychology is essentially the psychology of the Florida boom and the results will be the same."

The speaker said the activity of the stock market is due to forward moves by certain industries, greatly enlarged business in special instances, heavy buying by investment trusts, country-wide speculation and a general gambling mania.

THE 19TH HOLE IS PLEASING COMEDY

"The 19th Hole," by and with Frank Craven, came back to the Hollis last evening for a return engagement. Yes, indeed, it is all about golf, but pray do not run away with the idea that only those who "break a hundred" can enjoy this delightful little comedy; for there are other and, be it known, more important matters than a golf match to consider.

Frank Craven

Verily, there is a gentleman's honor at stake! And a vindication of one noble duffer in his own home. We reiterate, this is no mere chatter of the locker-room, no farcical frameup on dallying husbands and deserted wives. Our little drama has conflict, and surging emotions; it has a hero, heroine and a skulking villian who cheats on his score and — oh wicked man!—who does not replace the divots!

"The 19th Hole" is an excellent show not only because it is a deft job of play writing, but because it contains such a thoroughly human character as Vernon Chase. As Mr. Craven plays him you are completely won by the frail little chap who can summon so much spirit when the need arises.

Vernon is so intensely civilized that it seems incredible he could ever show his teeth. Whether or not quaking Vernon wins his match with the redoubtable and domineering Col. Hammer is not nearly so important as that fact that the shrinking little fuss-budget should have the nerve to attempt it.

It is Mr. Craven's evening, of course. But mention should not be neglected of Dorothy Blackburn as the wife who was "all for his own good," and Robert Wayne as the Gentleman Who Cheated On His Score. Neither should the effective staging of Sam Forrest and the locker-room songs of Gitz-Rice be overlooked; for it is qualities of this nature that contribute so much to make your visit to "The 19th Hole" an evening of appreciative enjoyment.

LINDY IN AIR SERVICES AT WILLIAMS FUNERAL

Santa Ana, Cal., Sept. 18 (AP)—With an impressive testimonial of affection from the clouds, in which Col. Charles A. Lindbergh joined with other aviators, the body of Lieut. J. J. Williams, United States Army Air corps, was laid to rest here.

Lieut. Williams of Detroit, one of the "Three Musketeers" who came here to thrill massed thousands at the Mines Field national air races, was killed while stunting before the crowd.

A formation of planes, led by Col. Lindbergh, who filled in for the dead aviator through the last week, droned overhead as the casket was carried to the grave. Flowers were dropped and taps sounded.

Coming Events

Madge Kennedy in "Paris Bound," a comedy by Philip Barry, comes to the Plymouth on next Monday.

Thurston, noted magician, comes to the Colonial on next Monday.

"Hold Everything," a new musical comedy, is booked for the Majestic also on next Monday.

"A Connecticut Yankee," musical play, is scheduled for the Majestic on Monday, October 29.

"TWO LOVERS" AT THE STATE COSTLY FILM

"Two Lovers," the new Ronald Colman-Vilma Banky film at Loew's State, is a long and detailed treatment of Baroness Orczy's novel, "Leatherface." As its multiple reels unwind there is ample evidence that it cost a great deal of money and that its makers earnestly attacked the material with every intention of doing well by it. But the production suffers from too many titles and too much footage. A pair of shears in the hands of some smart person could do much to offset this. Fred Niblo directed.

Ronald Colman

Flanders during the time of William of Orange sets the scene. The story brings to light a sort of Mark of Zorro fellow, who, with a leather mask over his handsome countenance, goes bravely about at night knocking over various Spanish gentlemen who seem to be in control of things.

The heroine, Miss Banky, finds herself betrothed to a young Dutchman upon whom she is supposed to spy for reasons of state. After being very mean to him for a number of reels, the lady suddenly discovers a great passion for the wronged young man; and at that moment turns completely Hollywood, running herself ragged to get him out of the scrapes for which she alone was responsible.

Colman, of course is this particular young man—also Leatherface. The pair of lovers look as well as ever together and the sentimental ones will enjoy watching their amorous scenes.

Mr. Niblo's heavy Flemish settings and soft focus photography are well worth admiring. But for the film's extreme length the action would be highly exciting, what with adventures with soldiery and assorted rapscallions.

Noah Beery, as the Spanish scalawag in chief, is unusually given to teeth-gritting and several other dangerous but unnecessary manifestations.

For stage diversion at the State there is Dave Harris and company in an ambitious presentation called "A Miniature Musical Comedy." Also in evidence are the four Locust Sisters, the same blithe singers that crooned such pleasant harmonies for "Hit The Deck" last year.

Continuing Shows

TREMONT—"Just a Minute," a musical show. Considerable orchestration by two bands and everything else as well.

SHUBERT—"Golden Dawn," an operetta. This time Mr. Hammerstein takes a German prison camp and sets it to excellent music.

PLYMOUTH—"Excess Baggage," a drama of vaudeville players, their tribulations and romances.

WILBUR—"Take the Air," a musical comedy. Will Mahoney, tireless funster, is the chief ingredient.

MAJESTIC—"The Great Necker," with Taylor Holmes employed at the pleasant task of chasing butterflies. The last week.

COPLEY—"The Bellamy Trial," a drama with courtroom background—and foreground, too, for that matter.

BARON HUENEFELD HOPS ON FLIGHT TO ORIENT

Berlin, Sept. 18 (AP)—Baron Ehrenfried Gunther von Huenefeld, with two companions, took off at 1.32 a. m. today on a flight to the Far East. His first stop will be at Sofia, Bulgaria. The airplane, named the Europa, is a sister ship of the Bremen, in which the baron made the first westward airplane crossing of the Atlantic. The pilot on the present flight is Carl Linder, a Swede. The mechanic is Paul Lenderich.

MR. BOSTON

By Jack Conway

"ILL health and financial difficulties are given as the reason why Walk Miller, manager of the late Tigers Flowers, took his own life," said Mr. Boston today. "I feel a personal loss in the tragic ending of [illegible] Southerner whom I [illegible] to know well during his [illegible] ers and other boxers under his [illegible] [illegible]

[illegible] Later Miller and Stribling ended their partnership [illegible] the boxers.

[illegible]

"FLOWERS was bothered by a cut on his forehead. He submitted to what was thought to be only a minor operation and died.

"Miller was heart broken, but immediately went about the task of bringing forth a new champion. He bought a farm outside of New York and established elaborate training quarters. He told me at the time there was more money in raising fighters than pigs.

"'If I can bring out a new star every two years, everything will be fine,'" Miller confided.

"Up to the time of his death, Miller had been unable to develop any new champion. In fact, things had been breaking very badly for him. He had lost heavily on numerous investments, while most of his boxers had failed to get by the preliminary class.

"Meanwhile Walk's health failed to improve. He lost spirit and became melancholy. Then came his tragic end.

"Miller leaves many friends in the boxing game in all parts of the country. He was well liked by all those persons who knew him. It is to be regretted that he did not receive a better deal from fate."

MR. BOSTON rubbed his hand across his face.

"Boxing lost another one of its great boosters when Police Inspector Mike Burke passed away the other day," went on the veteran. "The last time I saw Mike [illegible] in New York. Mike used to arrange his days off so as to take in all of the important ring contests in New York.

"The late inspector knew the boxing game well and appreciated a hard, clean fight.

"Mike was a member of the old police school. He believed in giving every deserving person a fair chance. The youngsters, [illegible] were very dear to him. He knew every kid selling newspapers in the downtown section and he took delight in helping them with his kindly words of advice. There wasn't a [illegible] in town [illegible] Mike Burke that any of his 'boys' had been guilty of any [illegible]

"Mike is survived by [illegible] son. There is talk of a testimonial for this fine sportsman and real police official. You may be sure that everybody in town will do his part to make the proposed affair a tremendous success. We shall miss you, Mike Burke."

CHAPTER XII

THIS is my valedictory!

I am through with the ring!

For nearly ten years I have given of my best to the profession I entered following the war. It has been my University of Hard Knocks. I have taken all its courses. Its highest degree I have won and have kept.

Now that it has no [illegible] to offer me, I wish to [illegible] into a private citizen—Gene Tunney.

In the retiring I leave for other boxers the [illegible] that go with the heavyweight championship. These things that have been to me and that I [illegible] earned, I pass on for younger men to strive for.

MONTREAL, Sept. 18—Mr. Segal called to say hello.

Mr. Segal is a wasp-waisted, sharp-featured young man from Manhattan Island, first name Harry, nickname "Champ." He used to manage Charley Phil Rosenberg, the former bantamweight champion, and knockout Phil Kaplan, the middleweight.

Mr. Segal disposed of these exponents of the sour science to Mr. Pete, the goat, and Bill Duffy, for a mere pittance.

IT'S as if JULES VERNE Spoke from the GRAVE to Explain How He Wrote "20,000 LEAGUES UNDER the SEA"

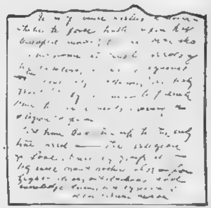
JULES VERNE

OFTEN in these days of the submarine, the wireless, the airplane, you hear someone remark, "Isn't it remarkable that Jules Verne, fifty years ago, foresaw all of these things and wrote of them as if they were happening before his eyes? How could he do it?" Verne himself explained. Long before the visions of his creative brain came true, he wrote an article on "Imagination," in which he told how the inventive writer worked out his problems.

Twenty-five years ago, the article was sent to an editor in New York who accepted it, put it away in a desk and forgot it. Recently that editor cleaned out his old desk and lo! found not only this article but two unpublished poems by Ella Wheeler Wilcox. Rare gems for 1928 readers, these. Where should they be published, to find the most appreciative audience? In Cosmopolitan, of course. So they are a part of the big October issue of that magazine.



A page from Ella Wheeler Wilcox's manuscript

SHOULD A CHILD HAVE ONE SET OF PARENTS TODAY, ANOTHER TOMORROW?

HE might have, if the behaviorists had their way. Sounds fantastic, doesn't it? But their idea is not fantastic. It has much to warrant close study and serious thought from all who are alive to the intellectual currents of the day. And no one ever presented the subject as clearly and as logically as does John B. Watson in Cosmopolitan for October.

The Last Line in This Story Would Make a Cigar-Store Indian Laugh

"He Learned About WOMEN From HIM," by Gouverneur MORRIS

Of course, one has to be a bit sophisticated to "get" Mr. Morris' rather fantastic humor at times, but here is a short story of the South Seas so delicious that it must appeal equally to the highbrow of the Tunney type and the lowbrow of the Mencken type.

IMAGINE THE ANGUISH OF A MOTHER WHO SEES IN HER SON A "SISSY"!

HERE is a subject so poignant that it requires a writer possessed not only of keen insight into human hearts but of the tenderest sympathy to present it. And there is one writer who combines those qualities—Fannie Hurst. She has written many a story that proved this, but never did she write a story as powerful and as sympathetic as "Sissy," in October Cosmopolitan.

AN 18-year-old girl should, by all means, use the "Miss" on her visiting cards. It is extremely bad form for her to omit it. Also you should not use an abbreviation on your visiting card. Either write out the name for which the initial stands, or omit the "A." A proper visiting card should be engraved, not printed. It is better to have no visiting cards than to have printed visiting cards.

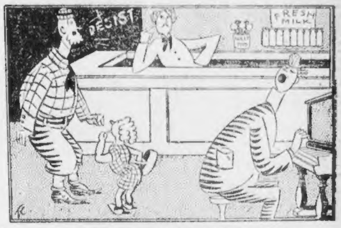
THE SHOOTING OF DAN McGINK



DESIST
FRESH MILK

The boys were hitting it up in the Milk and Water saloon,
The kid that peddled the lollypops was licking the ice-cream spoon,
Reading a tract in a whining voice sat Dangerous Dan McGink,
And at his side sat his blushing bride, a vision in mauve and pink.

Then out of the snow that filled Park Row and into the lighted room
There burst a bird by the name of Ferd, with a voice like the crack of doom,
A bearded bird by the name of Ferd, and he held us with his stare,
And now and again he waxed profane, my goodness how he could swear!

"You fellows," said he, "you don't know me, and I guess I don't know you,
But I sailed forth from the frozen North to sip a soda or two."
And, seeing the piano near the door, there he made his way
And started to pound the keys around—my goodness, how he could play!

We all joined in and the chorus swelled, we sang ten hymns or so,
But the voice of McGink was the worst, I think, while it echoed high and low,
Then up spoke a bird by the name of Ferd, "Desist, desist, desist,"
And seizing the pea-schooter from the bar, he shot McGink in the wrist.
The boys were hitting it up in the Milk and Water saloon,
The kid that peddled the lollypops was licking the ice cream spoon,
I've written a lot of terrible rot, but never did I think
I would live to write of that awful night of the shooting of Dan McGink.
—Edward Wolfson.

THE MEDITATIONS OF A WIFE

By HELEN ROWLAND

COMPANIONATE marriage may be only a dream; but Companionate DIVORCE is already an institution. It has come to STAY!

* * *

Marriage was always uncertain. One never knew whether it was going to end in a Golden Wedding or in a trip to Reno—in beauty and harmony, or in battle and alimony.

* * *

Girls cautiously embroidered the linen for their hope chests in noncommittal designs, and all the table silver was marked with the bride's maiden initials—just in case of a change of heart.

* * *

But DIVORCE was something you could bank on! Something final and irrevocable! Once you were parted in the courts, you were parted all the way down to the grave—as plainly and unmistakably as a comedian's back hair!

* * *

Anybody with two dollars in his purse could get married, but only the pure—in reputation—and the rich in pocket could get OUT of it. A divorce decree was a sign of ready money and social distinction. There was something almost sacred about it!

* * *

But NOW all that is changed. Divorce is just as much of a gamble as marriage—and almost as wobbly and insecure.

* * *

Every day, you read in the papers of some prominent divorced couple rushing back into each other's arms and running off to Europe for a second honeymoon.

* * *

Even after a husband and wife have gone to all the trouble and expense of packing their clothes in separate trunks, dividing the brushes, the golf sticks and the children and moving to separate hotels, they never can tell whether or not their divorce is going to "TAKE" until they have tried it out.

* * *

When you meet a divorced friend on the street, you never know whether to condole with her for having "gotten rid of that brute," or to congratulate her for having "gone back to that perfectly wonderful, angelic man." One good Paris divorce is no longer expected to last any woman a lifetime.

* * *

The truth is that most couples don't WANT to be committed finally to a divorce these days, any more than they want to be irretrievably tied to a marriage. They prefer to be just a little bit married, or just slightly divorced. They want time to think it over! To see if they can live happily—apart!

* * *

But there is nothing like a little legal separation to lend enchantment to the ex-husband or ex-wife. And, before the ink is dry on the final papers, they are meeting secretly for moonlight drives and petting parties, and deceiving all their trusting friends. Before the last knot is cut, they are tying it together again!

* * *

Companionate marriage may be a dud—but companionate divorce is a grand success!

WINNING HIGH GOAL

By LUCY LOWELL

Realizing ambition—getting what you want—is largely a matter of wanting some one thing so very earnestly that all else becomes of no consequence in comparison with that desire.

It means fixing your wish as a central object in your mind—in your life—and making every circumstance, effort, plan and thought revolve around this. It means willing sacrifice; giving up whatever is likely to take the attention and energy away from pursuit of the ambition. Sacrifice of pleasures, comforts and luxuries is cheerfully borne, and the thoughts toil on and up, winning always nearer the high goal.

I say "high goal" and mean exactly that, for your ambition must be high—your object must be worthy—or your labor will fall into chaos, carrying you down and down.

This has been proved again and again. You have followed the careers of persons who gave themselves to the winning of unsound or petty or harmful ambitions—watched them seem to succeed—marveled at the ruin which was their end. Ruin of something within themselves, perhaps, not always financial or social or artistic wreckage, but just that nevertheless.

The goal must be fine, and any goal which is fine enough may be achieved and if you say that this is not so, that you have tried and failed, it is because you did not try hard enough and long enough; because in some way you allowed something beside your goal to lure you. It is because you have not had the desire to achieve in a degree to sweep aside all other considerations.

SELLING WAVE SENDS STOCKS TUMBLING

New York, Sept. 18 (AP)—A wave of selling, presumably inspired by the calling of $25,000,000 in bank loans turned the course of prices irregular today after an early outburst of strength had carried nearly two score issues into new high ground. The ticker was again swamped with the volume of trading, falling half an hour or more behind the market.

U. S. Cast Iron Pipe was a spectacular feature, soaring 18 points. International Harvester extended its gain to 8½ points, Gimbel Bros. to 7¼ and Curtiss Aeroplane to 4½ before profit-taking sales forced recessions throughout the general list.

Coppers again gave one of the most impressive demonstrations of group strength. American Smelting ran up more than 5 points to 256½ and was accompanied into new high ground by Anaconda, American Zinc, Cerro de Pasco, Calumet & Hecla, Inspiration, Kennecott, Nevada, Granby and Miami.

Continental Motors sold at 20, double the year's low, and then lost most of its gain. General Motors was in brisk demand around yesterday's high price, and Yellow Truck was strong. Renewed activity and strength of Briggs Manufacturing, which reached new high ground, was accompanied by reports that English interests had acquired a large block of the stock.

Wall Street Gossip

CALL money renewed at 7 per cent.

GOLD Dust Corp. paid $6,250,000 for 115,000 shares of American Linseed preferred and common purchased from du Pont and Rockefeller interests.

PRESIDENT S. S. Kresge of Kresge Dept. Stores, Inc., offers $75 for all shares of Kresge pf., which closed at $74 on New York Stock Exchange yesterday.

KENNECOTT Copper sold at new high of 101¾, block of 4000 changing hands.

CONTINENTAL Motors sold at new top of $20, 5000 shares changing hands in block at 18.

MENGEL Box set a new top at 41, 4500 shares selling at 40.

WITH public still in market on large scale, and pools plentifully supplied with buying power and funds to finance their operations, advance gained momentum as session progressed.

MORE than a score issues mounted to new high levels in the first half hour of trading.

INTERNATIONAL Harvester opened with a block of 1000 shares at 300, up 5 points and a new high record.

IN new high ground were American Encaustic Tiling, Briggs Manufacturing, Graham-Paige, Advance Rumely, Columbia Gas, Yellow Coach, Cerro de Pasco, Inspiration and Atlantic Refining.

CAMBRIDGE OUT EARLY; VOTING IS HEAVY

In Cambridge a record early vote was cast despite the 9 p. m. closing in that city.

The peak of the rush will reach its height when the "after supper" voters are expected to clog the booths. More than 39,000 are entitled to vote in 11 wards and 52 precincts.

Police and plain clothes men were detailed at every booth to enforce the law relative to the 150-foot deadline while soliciting votes.

Allen Reported Ahead in Polling at Quincy

Balloting in Quincy was light during the first hours of today, but the heaviest turnout was expected in the evening.

Chief interest was centered in the fight between Lieut.-Gov. Allen and Frank A. Goodwin for the Republican nomination for Governor. No figures were given out, but workers were agreed that Allen probably was running ahead in that city, which has six wards and 17 precincts.

SOMERVILLE

In Somerville the polls opened at noon, to close at 9 p. m., and officials expected the largest primary vote in the history of the city. One hundred additional clerks will report at closing time to assist in tabulating the vote.

Interest centered in contests for the House in the 24th Middlesex district, where there are 11 candidates for the three Republican nominations, and on the Democratic side where there are 12 candidates for three places.

LYNN

The polls opened in Lynn at 6 a. m. with 81-year-old Chief of Police Thomas M. Burckes one of the first voters. Chief interest among Republicans was the the gubernatorial contest, as Lieut.-Gov. Allen is a former resident of Lynn, while former Registrar Goodwin is quite popular. Another contest was that between Congressman Connery of Lynn, seeking renomination who is being opposed by Kane of Lawrence. There is also a three cornered fight for state senator, the present Senator Annis being opposed by Rep. Osborne and ex-Rep. Bentley.

REVERE

The heaviest voting in years was taking place at Revere today. In the first hour of balloting 925 voters, most of them women, marked their ballots in the five wards.

Revere has a total voting registration of 10,217, and more than 7500 ballots are expected to be cast. The polls opened at noon and close at 8 p. m.

CHELSEA

Chelsea voters stormed the polling places today when the polls were opened at noon, and in the first half hour 516 votes were cast.

The total registration in Chelsea is 17,025. It is expected by city officials that a 60 per cent vote will be cast.

DUPED COP NABS HIS PRISONER AFTER CHASE

The upstairs section of Patrolman Horgan of Lynn was charged with an error today, but the downstairs portion of the policeman's six-foot-six-inch length was credited with an assist when Frederick Shea was captured after a chase of nearly a mile.

Shea, a 27-year-old milkman living in Lynn st., Lynn, had been arrested by Horgan on four serious charges, involving two 15-year-old Lynn girls.

The milkman told the officer he had two more collections to make—and would he mind? Patrolman Horgan wouldn't and he sat placidly on the front steps of a house while Shea went inside. Time passed and Shea did not reappear.

Then the policeman went into the house, too. Shea had made his collection and vanished. Far across a field at the rear was a figure running.

Patrolman Horgan pointed his long legs in the correct direction and set out under full sail, finally capturing Shea, although the milkman had had more than 200 yards handicap.

In Lynn court the milkman was held in $5000 for the grand jury.

AH! "MOUNTIE" CLIMBS FROZEN FALLS; GETS MAN!

Ottawa, Sept. 18 (AP)—The fellows who always get their men have their hardships. The annual report of the Royal Canadian mounted police tells of one inspector finding it so cold in Baffin Land that kerosene froze and he was able to climb a frozen waterfall.

VOTERS HAVING THE FINAL SAY

MANY OUT EARLY AT POLLS

first at the State House with its figures.

The results showed Lieut.-Gov. Allen with 20 votes for governor while Frank A. Goodwin received none.

For lieutenant-governor, Hull led the field with 11, Youngman and Bacon had two each, Burrill and Sherburne one each.

Haigis received nine votes for treasurer, Burrel seven and Wood two.

For auditor, Choate led the field with five votes; Allison three and Buxton, Cook and Phelps received two each, with returns incomplete.

In the U. S. senatorial fight, B. Loring Young led the field with 11 votes, Eben S. Draper received six, and General Butler Ames none.

Joseph E. Warner, present Attorney General, got 12 votes against six recorded for Clarence A. Barnes, his opponent.

The only two Democrats in the town jumped their party, giving a solid Republican tinge to the first returns. Emory Baker, an "Old Hickory," and Harry Smith, were the converts to G. O. P.

Eight voters were waiting when the polls opened in a little schoolhouse at 5 a. m. By the light of kerosene lamps they cast their votes and were followed by 13 others before the polls closed at 9 a. m.

The town has shown first returns in three presidential elections and means to repeat this year in November.

One arrest for illegal voting, ballot boxes breaking down from old age, and one of the heaviest votes on record today featured the early hours of the primary election in Boston. A heavy vote also was reported throughout the State.

Superintendent of Police Michael H. Crowley also threatened arrests for violation of the election laws prohibiting the distribution of political literature within 100 feet of polling booths.

He declared the law was being violated frequently, particularly in Ward 3, South End, and ordered officers on duty at the booths to make arrests if the practice was not stopped.

The man arrested was James Golding, 20, of Washington st., Roxbury, taken into custody at the Asa Gray School, Roxbury, the polling place of Precinct 8, Ward 9. The arresting officer, Patrolman Michael Clancy of Division 10, who claims to know Golding, charged he voted under the name of Thomas J. Murray of 3 Hammond st.

Upon arraignment in Roxbury court he pleaded not guilty and was held in $800 until October 1.

Wardens of several polling places in Dorchester and Roxbury reported they were unable to count the number of ballots being cast because of the breakdown in the mechanism of old ballot boxes. In one polling place in Roxbury it was said the ballot box had no handle.

In the majority of the Boston wards and in Brookline, an unusually heavy early vote was cast, particularly in districts where contests for nominations were being waged.

A feature of this early voting was the large number of women who turned out, many in Dorchester accompanying their children to school so that they could cast their ballots at that time.

One of the outstanding contests was the battle between Lieut.-Gov. Frank G. Allen and Frank A. Goodwin for the Republican nomination for governor, with both contestants voting early. Former Registrar Goodwin cast his ballot at the Alexander Hamilton School, Chestnut Hill, at 10 o'clock.

A fight even more bitterly contested was that for the Republican nomination for lieutenant-governor, in which Gen. John H. Sherburne, State Treasurer William S. Youngman and Speaker of the House John C. Hull were the opponents. Lieut.-Gov. Allen has the endorsement of Governor Fuller, who publicly announced himself after Youngman had claimed his backing.

The Democrats have two candidates for the gubernatorial nomination, Gen. Charles H. Cole and John J. Cummings, with the war veteran receiving the support of all the leaders of the party.

John F. Malley of Newton and Charles S. Murphy of Dorchester are contending for the Democratic nomination for Lieutenant-Governor.

Senator David I. Walsh is unopposed for renomination by the Democrats, while the Republicans have three candidates for the U. S. Senate—Butler Ames of Lowell, Eben S. Draper of Hopedale and B. Loring Young of Boston.

One of the liveliest fights and the hardest in which to predict victory is in the 12th Congressional district, where nine candidates are seekng the mantle of the late Congressman James A. Gallivan.

Senator Hennessey, former Senator McCormack and School Committeeman Sullivan are considered the leading candidates in this fight, which is bringing out a big vote throughout the district.

WOMEN ARE CANDIDATES

The only real battle for a Republican congressional nomination is in the second district, where Frederick D. Griggs and William Kirk Kaynor, both of Springfield, are battling. Congressman Henry L. Bowles is not seeking renomination.

There are many battles for senatorial nominations, one of the most interesting being in the seventh Middlesex senatorial district. Senator Joseph R. Gotton of Lexington is opposed there by the only woman Republican nominee for a Senate seat, Mrs. Alice F. D. Pearson of Lowell.

Literally thousands are running for a chance to win seats in the House of Representatives.

An interesting contest is that for the Governor's Council in the third district, where Mrs. Esther M. Andrews of Brookline, only woman member of the council, is opposed by four male candidates.

YOUNG VOTES IN WESTON

IN SENATORIAL FIGHT

"New Ashford Vote Means Nothing," Says Goodwin

Frank A. Goodwin, candidate for the Republican nomination for governor, today issued a statement discounting the New Ashford vote, the first primary return made, which gave his opponent Lt.-Gov. Frank G. Allen 20 and himself none.

"The vote in New Ashford means nothing," said Goodwin. "My representative in Pittsfield just notified me that Allen sent a number of automobiles into New Ashford in order to get out the vote for the effect it would have. This action was forecast in an article in one of the machine papers a few days ago. That article mentioned Mt. Washington, New Ashford, Mashpee and Gosnold. I couldn't afford to do that kind of thing."

City Clerk Joseph Atwill, who has held office for 30 years, predicted 20,000 out of the 38,900 registered voters would cast their ballots. The heaviest early voting was in Wards 1, 2 and 3, in the residential section.

WARD 1

At 11 o'clock 4500 voters, almost all men, had cast their ballots out of a total registration of 8764 men and 5090 women. The women's vote was expected to come out in the afternoon.

WARD 2.

Forty-five per cent. of this Charlestown ward's registered votes had cast their ballots by 11 o'clock, according to the estimates of officials. The majority of the early voters were men, with the women expected to turn out in the afternoon. The only local contest was for the House, with eight candidates for two positions.

WARD 3.

A heavy early vote was cast for John P. Buckley for the Democratic senatorial nomination because of the last-minute announcement of Martin Lomasney in his behalf. John B. Cashman seeks renomination and William J. Francis and Joseph G. Langone, Jr., were also candidates for the senatorial nomination in this district. Supporters of John R. Campbell, candidate for clerk of Suffolk Superior Criminal Court, reported a large outpouring in his behalf.

WARD 4

The vote in this ward, one of the largest in the Back Bay, was in early, with 11 precincts reporting a heavy vote up to noon. The lightest vote was in precinct 8, where 163 were recorded, and the heaviest in precinct 5, with 203.

WARD 5

This ward also reported heavy voting, with 198 ballots recorded in precinct 1 up to noon.

WARD 6

The 12th district congressional fight, with the four-cornered contest for the House, brought out an unusually large vote in this ward.

WARD 7

Similar conditions prevailed here as in ward 6, with a five-cornered contest for the House, the vote being estimated at more than 30 per cent above normal.

WARD 8

The congressional fight brought out a big vote here, precinct 3 reporting 154 votes up to noon and precinct 11 160.

WARD 9

Similar condions obtained in this ward, with precincts 3 and 4 reporting [illegible] votes by noon. At the same time precinct 2 had recorded 185 and precinct 5 197.

WARD 10

With seven candidates seeking nomination for two places in the Legislature, and the Fifth Suffolk Senatorial fight, a big vote was being brought out in this ward. Up to noon Precinct 3 for instance had recorded 210 votes.

WARD 11

In the home of Sen. Mulvey, candidate for clerk of the Supreme Court, and Thomas H. Carr, seeking renomination for the House, whose wife is carrying on for him during his illness, the vote at noon was far ahead of that cast two years ago.

WARD 12.

Women voters were out in force, particularly at noon, when they outnumbered men 8 to 1. The chief issue in this section of Roxbury was the eight-cornered congressional battle in which women's organizations were taking keen interest.

WARD 13.

Precinct 7 of this ward had the lightest balloting in the Dorchester district, but reported 131 votes at 9 o'clock.

WARD 14.

On the Mattapan end voters were waiting in line at noon at several precincts, with far more women than men present.

WARD 15.

A heavy vote was reported in this ward, one of the largest in Dorchester, with many women voting early. Precinct 8 reported 385 votes at 9 o'clock, a record number for that hour.

WARD 16

Worn-out ballot boxes refused to record accurately the number of ballots being cast in several precincts of this ward. The vote was unusually heavy, but no count could be expected until the polls close.

WARD 17.

The entire registered vote was expected to be cast by closing time.

WARD 18

In this ward the Republican workers were busy getting out the vote, taking one man from his sick bed.

WARD 19

The voting was not heavy in this Jamaica Plain ward, except in Precincts 10 and 11, the Forest Hills section, the home of John Cronin, candidate for renomination for clerk of the Supreme Court.

WARD 20

A light vote was being cast in this West Roxbury ward, where 13,000 voters are registered. There were no contests to arouse interest.

WARD 21.

There was a heavy vote in Ward 21, where Representative Martin Hayes was being opposed by Harold A. J. Oppenheim, endorsed by Gov. Fuller. Oppenheim workers are busy with automobiles getting out the vote and there was an Oppenheim checker in each polling place.

William S. Youngman, candidate for lieutenant-governor, although now a resident of Brookline, voted in the Harriet A. Baldwin school at 10 o'clock, at which time Frank A. Goodwin, candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor, cast his ballot at the Alexander Hamilton school, Chestnut Hill.

WARD 22

Up to 10 o'clock more votes had been cast in Precincts 1, 2 and 3 than during the entire day of the primaries two years ago. This was largely due to the fight for the Legislature, in which Leo R. Birmingham, seeking renomination, is being opposed by two candidates.

FULLER VOTES FOR AMES

Governor Fuller voted today for Butler Ames in the three-cornered fight for the Republican nomination for United States Senator. The Governor's choice was revealed by his secretary, Herman A. MacDonald, and the Governor later confirmed MacDonald's statement.

Opposing Ames are Eben S. Draper and former Speaker B. Loring Young of the House.

Governor Fuller refused to indorse any candidate in this contest prior to the balloting and there was some controversy over his choice.

WNAC to Broadcast Vote

WNAC will broadcast the results of the primaries from 11 o'clock tonight until 2 in the morning.

Dance music programs will be interrupted every half-hour in order to broadcast the latest returns from the various voting districts. Karl Rhode's Orchestra and Morey Pearl and his Orchestra will keep listeners awake between primary announcements.

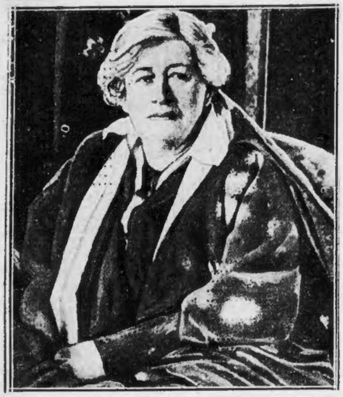
Light in This Face

Like Trees, Human Beings Die at the Top



ELLEN TERRY AT EIGHTY YEARS OF AGE

This picture will interest women fifty and OLDER, and it OUGHT to interest them.

It shows Ellen Terry, great British actress, as she was just before her eightieth birthday.

Women past middle age will study this strong face with interest. There is LIGHT, COURAGE, INTELLIGENCE in those eyes, and interest in the affairs of human beings.

Ellen Terry remained young; she kept this fine expression at eighty because HER MIND STAYED YOUNG, WHILE HER BODY GREW OLD.

We cannot prevent ageing of the body, but we CAN prevent ageing of the mind.

Human beings, like trees, die at the top. You know that a tree is going when you see the top withered.

HER FIRST PART

AS PORTIA

You know that a human being is going, so far as real life, the life of the mind, is concerned, when you see a face from which the LIGHT has gone, eyes in which there is no "speculation."

Unfortunately the world gives few opportunities to the average WOMAN past middle age. She does her work, rears her children; looks after her household, or looks after the children of others. Years come on and she is pushed aside, a piece of furniture once useful, now out of date.

It is hard to remain young, hard to keep light in the face and warmth in the heart, in the face of indifference. Too many women know that to their sorrow.

Nevertheless, THE MIND CAN BE KEPT INTERESTED AND ALIVE AND VIGOROUS.

And these pictures of Ellen Terry will encourage women, and men, too, sliding down the hill on the far side of fifty.

One picture shows Ellen Terry in her first appearance on the stage, eight years of age. Back in 1856 she appeared with the great actor, Charles Kean. Ever since and until her death Ellen Terry's mind HAD BEEN BUSY. No stagnation, no yielding to the years.

Her country honored her while she lived, a happy existence. And after she was cremated her ashes were put in a little white cradle—designed by her son. It was her own desire "to return to the cradle whence she had come."

The other picture shows Ellen Terry at the height of her power.

This costume wouldn't exactly do for a Ziegfeld production, or for a George White Scandals, but it was part of Ellen Terry's great success.

SOME THOUGHTS ON THE ELECTION

By DR. FRANK CRANE

AFTER all it is an impressive sight to witness a myriad free people quietly depositing their ballots and saying who should be their ruler.

Of course many of these people are morons, and some persons are openly contemptuous of whatever choice democracy may make.

But looking over our list of rulers, from G. Washington to C. Coolidge, they average pretty well, thank you, and can safely be compared with a list of rulers furnished by any other country.

There are bosses and parties and cabals and hokum and all sorts of naughty things about the business of electing the President, but the results are not so bad.

Theoretically we declaim against parties and intrigues and bribery and so forth, but at least the old machines have ground us out two pretty good specimens just now.

It is hard to conceive of a fitter man for the presidency than Mr. Hoover. He has worked his way up from the bottom. As far as we know his success has not been due to influence, organization or money.

He has creditably served abroad. He has the international outlook and at the same time is a sturdy American.

He is not a lawyer nor a professional politician, but an engineer.

Equally laudatory terms could be employed about Alfred Smith.

It is hard to find anybody that knows him, even remotely, that does not like him.

He has one of the greatest personalities that ever got into public life in America.

His independence, honesty and fearless candor are acknowledged by all.

Whichever of the two receives the majority of votes will not cause his country to blush.

It is a trite observation that democracy produces mediocre leaders. Only an autocracy, a crisis, or some bloody revolution is supposed to produce a great man, such a figure as Mussolini or Napoleon, but it is a comfort to know that somehow out of the welter of politics the two men that have emerged, both Smith and Hoover, are after all about the greatest Americans we have, and probably no fitter candidates could have been chosen by a committee of college presidents.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOU can't argue with me about hell.

I know there are hells. Hells that make the Biblical description look like a nursery decoration. Hells of rebellion and remorse.

I know—because I have lived in them.

And I expect to live in a lot more of them before I'm through.

I realize that it is not fashionable to believe in hell any more, or talk about it. This is the Pep and Pollyanna age and no one is supposed to have blisters.

But I have blisters—

And a lot of people I know have blisters, or are accumulating them.

So I think it's time for a little wide-open discussion of the subject.

In looking back over my hells I am struck by one curious fact—

THEY WERE PRACTICALLY ALL OF MY OWN MAKING.

I always tried to blame them on the other fellow and sometimes I got by with it. But always in my secret heart I knew that they were of my own making.

Now, isn't that a curious thing? Why should I, with every chance to enjoy a nice, comfortable, safe, easy life, go to work and make hell for myself?

WHY SHOULD I SEEK BLISTERS WHEN I MIGHT HAVE BLISS?

Yet I do. And a lot of other cussed people do, too.

There's something about us that just naturally busts loose every so often and goes around looking for trouble.

Give us the best overstuffed armchair in heaven, with a nice shaded light, soft music and all the other trimmings, and within six months we'd be out looking for some kind of eye-searing, heart-racking hell.

If we don't find it, we make one for ourselves.

Nor does it do a bit of good to punish us for being bad or promise us rewards for being good. Rewards are no treat to us, nor punishment any handicap, when the mood is on. For we're made that way. We just MUST get out and start something—we MUST see what it's all about—no matter what the price.

AND FOR SOME PECULIAR REASON WE SEEM TO GET MORE OUT OF OUR AGONIZING, SELF-MADE HELLS THAN WE DO OUT OF THE NICEST, WELL-ORGANIZED, 100 PERCENT HEAVEN.

I don't know why this is—

I don't know why evil is—

Or why some of us should seem to need sin and sorrow and suffering for our development just as a plant needs air and sun.

I don't know why some of the best people I know have been the worst and are still capable of being the worst, at times.

Nor do I know why other good people, who have never been anything but good, seem, somehow, to lack a little flavoring.

It's all a puzzle to me.

I only know—IT IS SO.

And maybe this random talk will make you realize that it is so—and be a little more tolerant with those poor souls who just must have their hells.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Multitude of jealousies and lack of some predominant desire that should marshal and put in order all the rest, maketh any man's heart hard to find or sound. —Bacon.

There are some men formed with feelings so blunt, that they can hardly be said to be awake during the whole course of their lives. —Burke.

There must be chance in the midst of design; by which we mean, that events which are not designed necessarily arise from the pursuit of events which are designed. —Paley.

Ignorance, with indifferency for truth, is nearer to it than opinion with ungrounded inclination, which is the great source of error. —Locke.

Houses are built to live in, not to look on; therefore, let use be preferred before uniformity, except where both may be had. —Bacon.

Seeing America First

BY O.O. McINTYRE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18—For hungry explorers in search of atmospheric epicurism San Francisco is a paradise. Cafes differ from the brisk and spanking new types in Los Angeles. Here they have a leisure and the seasoned mellowness of years. There are few fluted stucco affairs.

A distinct individuality is observed and the cheapness of excellent food is a feature. Famed gourmets have gone into ecstatic raptures over the savory cuisine. Enrico Caruso, no less, found it tickled his discriminating palate more than food in any other city save Naples.

Legend credits the appetizing fare to the hearty appetites of those in search of the Golden Fleece. But the traditional demand for good food must be aided somewhat by present-day hill climbing. Scamper up hill and down vale awhile and what you can do to a steak is something killing.

One may dine as cheaply and well as in present day Paris. Cafeterias do not predominate as in many western cities. Table d'hote courses flourish. French and Italian cafes—with French Papas bowing and long mustachioed Signors smiling their welcome—are in profusion.

Scattered in the polyglot array are Slavonic, Spanish, Hungarian, Mexican, Greek and innumerable Chinese. There is an old world obeisance—the cherished zeal to please—and none of the amusing affectation of Greenwich Village with its plagiarized posing from sculleries of Montparnasse.

San Francisco makes a festival of dining—a gastromic gesture which is doubtless a throwback to the influence of the early Spanish fiesta. One finds chatter, laughter, song and a vivacity epitomized in the celebrated cellar of Coffee Dan's.

Here the diner is hilariously kidded as he descends the stairs with a deafening hubbub of mallets beating riotiously on table tops. Among the noted places are Camille's, Pierre's the Cliff House, Tait's at-the-Beach, Coppa's, the Palais Royal, Solari's and Marquard's.

BROADWAY, Kearney, Columbus ave., upper Montgomery, Market and Powell are high spots of the Eating Belt. There is a thoughtful patience on the part of servers while you scan menus. To those accustomed to having menus snatched away this is delightful. There is always a piquant entree and perhaps a shell fish bordelaise, tagliarini, spaghetti, varioli and a pastelike lasagne. Queer and marvelous sauces. Real thick crusted French bread. O, so many things to make a meal what it rarely is these calory-counting days.

SAN FRANCISCO is lapped on three sides by the rise and fall of the Pacific. As a result its sea food offers a bewildering variety. There are fish grottoes featuring fish caught the same morning and unloosed in the window aquariums. A patron may select his fish rather vulgarly by pointing and have it cooked to his taste. There are also crabs, shrimps, oysters, clams, the abalone with its rainbow shell, sand dabs, pompano and rex sole. A favorite breakfast dish is sole scrambled with eggs and it is due to a hatful of it this morning that I'm so merry and bright. O, solo mio!

THE glorified jazz orchestra was cradled here. San Francisco gave the world in general and New York in particular Paul Whiteman and his nervous right foot. Another pioneer jazz exponent is Art Hickman—a Hickman, Ky., boy, who made good in the city. Many years ago this virtuoso of jazz orchestration came to New York and sent nimble feet flying on the old Midnight Frolic roof. But he turned his back on New York for San Francisco at the pinnacle of his popularity. And today he reigns at the leading hotel—the St. Francis.

I VISITED the historic Barbary Coast whose wild rythms inspired most of our hip-shaking dances. It is now a strip of vacant lots and deserted buildings and as lively as a graveyard. A stray dog rising up in the gloom of a lonely dump heap to stretch sent a certain New York boy scurrying over a nearby hill belching fire and flapping his ears in nothing flat. That's how spooky the old Barbary Coast is these days, my dears.

How Parents Spoil Child

Thousands of Ways—We Mention One

This editorial is written in response to the request of a reader. He asks us to point out the harm that parents do by giving conflicting orders to children.

Many thoughtless fathers and mothers bewilder their children and hinder their development in the way complained of.

In the system of laws which govern grown men the first essential is UNITY of law. If laws should conflict no man would be expected to live or to develop properly under them.

The will and the instructions of the parents are the LAWS which govern children.

The child is unfortunate whose parents are whimsical. Still more unfortunate is the child whose father and mother disagree on important points—one saying "you shall do that," another "you shall not do that"—one ordering a certain thing, the other forbidding it.

The idea of education is first of all to develop what is IN the child, bringing out what is good in him, with as little oppression and coercion as possible from without. The child should be controlled mainly by making him feel personally the uncomfortable results of a harmful action.

Nature corrects us grown children solely by making us suffer the consequences of our own deeds. Children should be corrected in the same way—not arbitrarily, not by threats, but through their reason, their sense of justice and their respect for inevitable consequences.

Above all the child should be made thoroughly to respect laws and rules. There should be no such thing as conflict between parents. A single order from a father contradicted by a mother is enough to destroy all respect for parental authority.

On this subject we hope to write very fully at a future time. We carry out our reader's request today in urging upon parents to be CONSISTENT by discussing and settling differences of opinion among themselves and never destroying the child's respect for authority by conflicting orders.
